Wide Open Plate Race Forecast

12 to 16 Starters Expected in East Classic Saturday

TORONTO, May 26—(CP)—The racing strip at historic Woodbine Park will be crowded with good thoroughbreds when they start the classic King's Plate Saturday. And no one feels too sure in choosing the winner of the 91st renewal of the Plate, which this year has $20,000 added to the King's 50 guineas.

A total of 17 Canadian-bred three-year-olds started in the plate trial last Saturday, split into two divisions. Jack McIntyre's Blue Dance was an easy winner of one division, covering six furlongs in 1.15. J. Frowde Seagram's Roanite won the other in 1.15 4-5.

Several horses that have been touted as plate winners at one time or another trailed those two last week. All are possible winners Saturday when they travel 1 1-8 miles, or three furlongs longer than the trials.

ARCARO NOT RIDING

Carr Hatch's Unionville will be ridden by Jockey J. Nichols, who rode the winner of the last race at Belmont Park, New York, on Thursday. Hatch had been unable to secure Eddie Arcaro to ride his good colt.

Two other United States riders definitely engaged are Chris Rogers, a former Toronto boy, aboard Vince Sheridan's McGill, and Clarence Picou, rider of Blue Dance.

Possibilities are for a total between 12 and 16, and if the maximum goes, some will have to be started outside of the automatic starting-gates. The track can accommodate comfortably about 16 racers, but a field of that size will bring some jamming on the turns.

Disaster Plan Shelved As Flood Threat Eases

WINNIPEG, Man., May 26—(BUP)—Brig. R. E. A. Morton announced today that the city's all-out disaster plan, never brought into effect, was being shelved as the flood danger diminished by the hour.

Official flood level at 11 a.m. today was 28.35 feet, down two feet from last week's flood crest.

Minimum flood level is 18 feet.

Flood controller Morton said he felt the situation was "bright enough to shelve the disaster plan."

He stressed that it was not being discarded, however, and the civilian committees behind the plan would be given 48 hours notice if any subsequent emergency should arise.

He said every Canadian city should have a disaster program, similar to this city's "If Plan," mapped out specifically for the floods. Morton said such plans could be tied into civil defence programs.

COMMISSIONER ON HAND

Brigadier Morton said today a tri-service guard of honor would be on hand at the airport tomorrow for the arrival of a British Overseas Airways plane with relief supplies from Britain.

He said Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, British high commissioner to Canada, would be in Winnipeg to receive the shipment and turn it over to the Red Cross.

Meantime, 200 miles east of here the waters of Rainy Lake were rising rapidly in the Fort Frances, Ont., district with some flooding already reported.

The weather was the key that could unleash or check floods in the Fraser Valley of British Columbia, and authorities in Alberta, the foothills province, look anxiously at heavy snows which had still to run off through the Bow River Valley.

In Winnipeg, the Red River dropped two-tenths of a foot from 1 p.m. yesterday to midnight and still was going down. Engineers said the rate of fall indicated the once-rampaging Red would fall well below the danger point in about a week.

Fourteen sanitary inspectors left Winnipeg today bound for the rural areas of the south to organize

Air Cadet To Go Saturday

CALGARY, May 26—A well-balanced eight-card race featuring the 1950 debut of last year's western money-winning champion Air Cadet, will be presented at the Calgary exhibition race course Saturday afternoon, as the Chinook Jockey club meeting reaches its half-waq mark.

Air Cadet, who had five victories, four seconds and a third in 10 starts on the prairies in 1949 has been assigned top weight of 124 lbs. in the field of six named to contest the about seven-furlong Chinook handicap.

Those who will oppose him are Everett Bill's entry of Allied Admiral and Playful Pilot; Les Lear's recent winner, Sir Leknarf, Turf, a newcomer to western racing, and Broad Bend, one of the top-ranking three-year-olds of last year.

Post time for Saturday's program is 2.30 p.m.

Dick Wakefield Told By Chandler To Go To Oaks

CINCINNATI, O., May 26.—(AP)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler today told Dick Wakefield to report to Oakland in the Pacific Coast League.

The temperamental outfielder was sold to that club yesterday by New York Yankees, but said he would not report.

He carried his plea to Chandler in a telephone conversation this morning, declaring he had had no real chance to show his stuff with the Yankees.

Wakefield was told by Chandler to "abide by the provisions of your contract."

All-American Final In Golf

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 26—(AP)—Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., and Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, N.C., battled their way today into the finals of the British amateur golf championship and will meet over the 36-hole route tomorrow for the title.

Stranahan, the 1948 winner, reached the play-off with a 4 and 3 semi-final victory over 54-year-old Cyril Tolley of Britain, while Chapman, a former American champion, edged out Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia, 1-up, in their afternoon struggle.

Stranahan's victory assured the second all-American final within four years. Chapman lost to Willie Turnesa of Elmsford, N.Y., in the final of the 1947 event.

Right-Of-Way Given To Trucks For Youth Rally

BERLIN, May 26 — (CP) — All 13 trunk roads into Berlin were closed to normal traffic today to make way for 7,000 trucks and buses bringing thousands of blue-shirted East German youths to the city for Sunday's monster Communist Youth Rally.

Throughout East Berlin this morning, gangs of workmen and young volunteers were unfurling flags and erecting huge "peace" placards in Unter Der Linden and other main streets and squares.

The Western Allies intensified their precautions against Communist violence as 200,000 young East Germans jammed the city's Russian sector.

MOM AND POP PLAY THE RACES

MOM'S 'STAKE $55.50

Say, I seem to be in quite a rut. I can't seem to pick anything that can gallop. That Brighton Upton looked like a good thing yesterday but didn't have quite enough poop to last out and finished third after I bet him to win. Well, anyway today I should get even with a deuce on Proletarian to win. I was gonna bet Dry Marsh who looked like a sure thing in that seventh today, but they scratched him this morning. Tomorrow I'm gonna bet a two spot on Broad Bend to place

POP'S STAKE $53.00

Well yesterday I got a bit richer, but not much. Seems everyone liked Lillooet Boy to win the sixth and that's just what he did to pay $3.70. And so today I'll ride along with Count T to win and follow up tomorrow with $2 to win on Brighton Upton. That's the horse Ma liked so much yesterday but he didn't run so well for her. Guess he needs the male touch. However, I feel he's the best there tomorrow. But then, one never knows. None of these pigs have been really running true to form yet this year.

Cities And Towns Map Future Action

The battle over the Yellowhead Pass route as part of the new Trans-Canada highway system is not over.

The fight for its inclusion either as part of the Trans-Canada highway or failing that, its completion as a full secondary route will be carried on by the Trans-Canada Highway System Association (Yellowhead Route.)

Scoring the government for yielding to British Columbia's "pressure" in favor of the Kicking Horse Pass route, which members said gained "most financially" from that route, delegates will also carry their case to the federal government.

TRACES DEVELOPMENTS

Tracing the fight for the northern road, Doug Homersham meeting chairman, said the final choice of a route had been left to the provincial government and though the central route was chosen "the fight need not be dropped for at least a secondary northern route."

Flood Disaster Plan Shelved

cleanup campaigns in six communities whose farmer-townsfolk had fled the flood and slowly were trickling back home.

Provincial government pumps were being used in Dominion City to clear floodwaters from wells and basements. In Brunkild, townsmen were taking down dikes which a week ago they manned 24 hours a day.

Passenger trains were to head through the flooded valley on Canadian Pacific Railway lines tonight for the first time since May 9.

COTTAGES ABANDONED

In neighboring Ontario, Rainy Lake, near Fort Frances, continued rising today. Its waters were swelled by the run-off from what veterans said was the biggest snowfall since 1900. City officials discounted the possibility of major flood damage there but said that some summer cottages in the town of 6,000 had been abandoned.

Most of the cottages lay on the banks of the lake.

Opinions were mixed about the possibility of flooding in the Fraser River Valley of British Columbia, but the sun could apparently make or break the flood threat.

Most observers were confident the province would not have a recurrence of its 1948 flood disaster which caused millions of dollars damage.

MEET TODAY

A meeting of government and army authorities was scheduled for today to discuss the possibility of flooding along the Bow River which twists through Calgary, Alta.

Provincial Attorney - General Lucien Maynard announced the meeting in Edmonton yesterday. A government spokesman said the main cause for concern was heavy snow still holding fast in the Rockies.

V. A. Newhall, Calgary city commissioner, said "we are merely making sure that we are prepared for any eventuality. There is no cause for alarm."

MUCH SNOW

J. I. Strong, city engineer, said he believed that flood control measures already lined up would be sufficient to handle the flow.

There was an unusual amount of snow in the mountains behind Calgary and 40 per cent more moisture than the average for this time of the year, Strong said.

Warm weather and two or three days of rain might cause flooding along the river banks, but "in any case, the peak of a flood in Calgary would last only 12 to 24 hours," he said.

More Redwater Lands On Block

Last Sale Brought Receipts Of Government To $36 Million

By C. V. Myers
Bulletin Oil Editor

Alberta coffers prepared to accept further oil millions Thursday with the government announcement it was conducting another Crown lease sale of highly attractive Redwater lands.

The last sale May 11, which saw a record bid of $10,000 an acre, netted the provincial treasury $6,000,000 to bring total land taken in 14 months to $36,000,000.

The new list includes Redwater tracts that appear as valuable as any yet offered and three quarter sections a mile north of the Anglo Group's North Woodbend wildcat.

At Redwater the government is offering the east half of section 35. Royalite bought the west half of the adjoininog section 36 on the east for $2,933,000 on Feb. 16. Since then all eight locations have yielded producing oil wells. The southeast quarter of section 35 is parcel 94, the northeast is parcel 95.

HAS WEST HALF

Royalite has the west half of section 36. Federated group bought the east half for $3,130,000 on the May 11 sale. Parcel 90 offsets the north half of Royalite's property. It is the northwest quarter of section 31. The southeast quarter of 31 is being offered as parcel 91.

The quarter adjoining the Ohio oil company on the north, the northeast of section 12-57-21 is being offered as parcel 97. It carries an additional 15 per cent over-ride.

Parcel 93 is the northwest quarter of section 34. It adjoins on the west the 160 acres for which Dome Mines paid $1,065,000 May 11. The diagonal southwest offset quarter, the southeast of 33-56-21 is being offered as parcel 92.

GULF OFFSET

Parcel 96 is the northwest of 4-57-21. It is on the thinner western edge of the field with Gulf wells offsetting it on the north.

In North Woodbend a mile and a half north of the Anglo Imperial Woodbend wildcat the government is offering the northeast of section 33, the northwest of section 34 as parcels 55 and 56. The southeast of 34 is parcel 57.

Additionally the government will offer 60 wildcat parcels spread from Craigmyle to Pouce Coupe.

Offers will be accepted to close of business June 29.

Yellowhead Road Fight Continuing

weather highway through the Yellowhead Pass to Kamloops."

Copies of their resolution will be forwarded to the federal government, the provincial government, the B.C. government and the Vancouver Board of Trade.

To get even a secondary road this association will have a fight on its hands, said Mayor Sid Parsons.

"The provincial government has already told us they will have three paved highways from east to west and they don't care which one Saskatchewan and B.C. hook up with.

"We can get that road if we get 100 per cent support from towns and municipalities in the northern part of the province adjacent to the route," he said.

Action taken by cities and towns in Ontario forced the construction of a secondary route through that province, E. T. Love, secretary-treasurer of the association, told the meeting.

Now they have a Trans-Canada highway No. 1 and No. 2 out of Ottawa.

"The issue has been warm here but nothing like what has taken place in Ontario," he said.

"If we continue our fight the north highway will be the Trans-Canada highway, though possibly not by name, but we will have a completed road through the Yellowhead Pass."

The federal government will also be asked to "immediately" make the 18 miles between the town of Jasper and the Alberta-B.C. boundary into a modern highway.

A delegation representing central and northern Alberta towns and cities and the Trans-Canada Highway System Association will arrange for an early conference with Premier Manning to submit the association's requests.

BUT ON HIS OWN, little Joe doesn't do so well. After 40 tries all he succeeded in achieving was to have Yo-Yo dangling over edge of his cot.

Eskimo Joe Fascinated By Yo Yo Performance

By Mike Martin
Bulletin Staff Writer

Little Eskimo Joe was truly amazed.

His black, sloe eyes opened wide. They danced backwards and forwards, upwards and downwards. Suspicion changed to wonderment. The solemn face crinkled with laughter. His little body shook as he jumped with excitement.

Four-year-old Eskimo, Joe Koaha, from Cambridge Bay, NWT, a tubercular in Charles Camsell Hospital, was being introduced to the never-aging fad, the Yo Yo.

Joe watched Yo Yo maestro, Bud Masding, from Regina, Sask., skilfully manipulate two Yo Yo's in the ward Tuesday.

The Yo Yo's went up. Two black eyes went up. The Yo Yo ran along the floor. Two black eyes followed. One set went up, the other along the floor. Joe had trouble keeping both in sight.

JOE TRIES IT

As all good things have to, Bud's performance came to an end. But Joe was not satisfied—far from it.

He beckoned to Bud (his English is limited to 'Tank you' and 'Bye Bye') and pointed to the toy. We gathered that he wished to try his hand at Yo Yo-ing.

Handed the Yo Yo, Joe gave his audience (now a dozen black eyes, a couple of pair of blue and a brown or so), a musical if somewhat unprofessional gurgle, untwined the string from his fingers and Ooops, patted it down.

That's where it stayed.

NOT DISCOURAGED

For the life of him, Joe could not make it climb back up the string. He jerked, he yanked, he jerked again and (don't let this get around) probably muttered an Eskimo word that his mother didn't teach him. But no—there was the Yo Yo dangling at the end of the string.

Was Joe discouraged? Not on your life. He's not the type to get discouraged.

As the two pair of blue eyes and one pair of brown eyes left the ward, Joe, still closely watched by a dozen black eyes and gurgling happily, set about his thirtieth—or was it his fortieth?—attempt to conquer the ever-dangling Yo Yo.

TWELVE gallons of paint will go into brightening this 160-foot chimney at Swift Canadian plant in Edmonton. Man at top with brush is Frank Cross, Riverview Apartments. Fellow in middle, doing welding, is Ernie Krucik. Chimney was 200 feet tall, but 40 feet was sliced off three years ago.

John Smith Lives Again

Captain John Smith appeared in all his scarlet-coated splendor on the stage of Concordia College auditorium last night.

And just as in the legend of the early days of the white man in North America, the good captain was saved from death at the hands of her tribesmen by Pocahontas the Indian princess.

But the Concordia choristers' presentation of the comic operetta "Pocahontas" based on the story John Smith gave history quite a beating.

PLAYED AGAIN

Last night's premiere performance at the college is being followed by another presentation at 8:30 p.m., Saturday, on the same stage. The group also has dates to stage "Pocahontas" at Stony Plain tonight, Fort Saskatchewan May 29, and Wetaskiwin May 30.

Plans Approved For Extension

INNISFAIL, May 26.—Plans have been approved, and tenders called for an forty by twenty-four foot brick and tile addition to the hospital.

It will house the larger X-ray unit, laboratory, and emergency ward.

Work on the building will be started as soon as the contract is awarded.

Farm Delegation Will Meet Howe On Wheat Price

A delegation will make representations over the final wheat contract payment when Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, returns from England.

This information was contained in a telegram received by Carl J. Stimpfle, president of the Farmers' Union of Alberta, from federal minister of agriculture, Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner today.

Representatives from the Union are expected to be in the delegation which will ask a final payment of 25 cents per bushel, raising the total to $2, of which $1.75 has already been paid.

Part of the final payment will be met by present funds on hand.

Metro Oil Ready To Start Second Well

The Metro Oil Company of Edmonton is getting set to sink a second well near Bon Accord.

Metro Oil found oil in its first well completed last week, extending what is known as the Excelsior field by one mile. The new find is just west of Bon Accord, about 15 miles due north of Edmonton.

FREEHOLD RIGHTS

Metro has now staked its second venture on a half section of freehold rights, and will commence drilling Metro No. 2 shortly.

If this second well proves to be a producer, Metro is certain to develop the new Excelsior field on an extensive basis.

The Excelsior area is a westerly extension of the great Redwater producing area which now has 440 producers.

Nineteen wells were completed in that area last week, 16 of which proved successful. There were just three dry holes.

DAY BY DAY

Flood Fund Total Hits $71,000

Edmonton's contribution to the Winnipeg Flood Fund now stands at over $71,000.

Fund headquarters report that for the first time since the drive opened contributions have dropped slightly.

Volume is expected to pick up again within a few days as employe contributions through business firms are being closed and amounts collected forwarded to headquarters.

There is no letup in the drive as several city and community organizations are still completing plans for fund raising affairs.

Cheques or cash will be received at campaign headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce offices.

Firefighters Reject Award

Firefighters in Edmonton have refused an arbitration board award given in their wage dispute with the City of Edmonton.

H. E. Bendickson, secretary of the provincial department of industries and labor, said today he will attempt to mediate the dispute. Meetings between representatives of the firemen, the city and the department will begin shortly.

Arbitration board decision recommended a $12.65 a month wage increase for first class firefighters. The firemen, who had originally sought a $30 a month increase, refused to accept the award. City officials indicated that the award would be acceptable to the city as employing body.

Under the provisions of their code, firemen are prohibited from taking strike action in labor disputes.

325 Jobless Expected As Plant Closes

$650,000 Yearly Payroll to End With Shutdown

Edmonton's North West Industries Ltd., aircraft plant has come to the end of repair contracts for the RCAF — and 325 skilled workers will join the lists of the unemployed.

Closing of the plant—in almost continuous operation since the start of the Second World War —will deprive Edmonton of an annual $650,000 payroll.

Announcement that the plant would close was made May 22 by company officials after efforts to obtain additional government contracts for repair work had failed.

ANOTHER 8 WEEKS

International representative Jack Green of the International Association of Machinists said today that present contracts would keep the plant going for about another eight weeks. After that it would shut down completely he said.

Some of the men, all members of the aircraft local 1579 of the Machinists' Union, had already been let out, he reported.

Heavy commitments to build CF100 and F86 fighter aircraft made by the federal government is cited as the reason behind the plant's closure.

SHORT OF FUNDS

The commitments have left the federal government short of funds for maintenance work, according to the report.

The closure means no aircraft repair facilities will be available west of Winnipeg's MacDonald Bros. Aircraft Ltd.

Labor officials termed the government's move part of a "short sighted" policy.

"If an emergency arises, difficulty will be experienced in reopening the plant," he said. "The skilled workers will be scattered all over the country."

Up until Feb. 24, he said, the government had assured operators further contracts would be forthcoming.

Then word was received that the plant would be closed.

Estd 1886 JOHNSTONE WALKER LIMITED

All-Night Service

The complaint of a citizen against noise made by an all-night garage in Edmonton is not a valid objection to 24-hour garage service because no garage, doing noisy work, should be located in a residential area.

If garages are properly located in the zones where they belong, it should be no business of the city whether they choose to remain open for ten hours or for 24.

There is too much of a tendency in Edmonton, probably established by tradition, towards over-control of private enterprise.

The city council is a legislative body. It is an arbiter of neither morals nor economic practices.

If a garage operator wants to serve the public every hour of the day and night, there is no reason on earth why any authority should interfere with him.

If he wants to operate for only five hours a day, no law should compel him to do otherwise.

The only manner in which the council should assume control for the protection of the public is to compel each operator to be consistent in his hours of business.

That is to say, if a garageman offers to give a 24-hour service, it is reasonable that he should be compelled to give that service for a specific time so that the public can count on his premises being open when they require service.

This is the principle upon which the garage regulations in Calgary are established. It is similar to the principle which governs garage regulations in Vancouver.

Like limiting the number of taxicabs in the city, to limit the number of all-night garages is an unwarrantable interference with civil liberty.

Edmonton took a step forward when its council repealed the clauses limiting the number of taxicabs.

It would be an equally forward step to lift the heavy paternalistic hand which purports to tell a man when and how he can sell a gallon of gas.

Certainly this close control of gas stations does not increase Edmonton's popularity with tourists.

They Are Extraordinary People

Police questioning of Dr. Klaus Fuchs, now serving a 14-year prison sentence in Britain, has resulted in the arrest of one man for espionage and the impending arrest of several others.

British Intelligence and the American FBI say they believe they have discovered the names of many persons who were involved with Fuchs in selling atomic information to Russia.

The Fuchs case and those cases which promise to grow out of it reveal two extraordinary circumstances.

The first extraordinary circumstance is that supposedly intelligent men who come from backward countries in Europe to a higher standard of living and greater liberty than they have ever known before should be willing to betray that living standard and that liberty to a system that offers nothing but harder work with less return and infinitely less freedom.

The second extraordinary circumstance is that both the British and the United States governments were so blind and careless as to place these men with doubtful backgrounds in positions of secrecy and trust.

Surely men with such perverted viewpoints, with a positive passion to plot towards the enslavement of the world, must have revealed their mental peculiarities in some aspect of their behavior.

And yet the safety of civilization was entrusted to their hands with less investigation than the average bank devotes to the hiring of a junior clerk.

The chief reason there is so little bank embezzlement is that banks make very sure that persons in their employ are honest and well-behaved.

One would have thought that equal care would have been given to choosing custodians of the most important scientific secret in the world.

Could Create Dissension Here

It is not difficult to understand the anxiety of Roman Catholic groups to urge the appointment of a Canadian ambassador to the Vatican because the proclamation of the Vatican as a sovereign, independent state represented a high temporal victory for the Roman Catholic Church in its long-drawn-out controversy with modern Italy.

Every ambassador appointed to the Vatican, therefore, is an additional acknowledgment of the Vatican's temporal sovereignty.

Now while one may be sympathetic towards the Roman Catholic view in this connection, it is necessary also to consult the views of the many thousands in Canada who refuse to regard the Vatican as a temporal power.

For there can be no doubt that at least half the Canadian people who respect the Vatican as the centre of a great and benevolent religious organization decline to admit that it has existence as a political entity.

We are not concerned here with the rightness or wrongness of either view.

But we must be concerned with the dissension that would be created in Canada if the Canadian government inclined positively to one or the other of them.

The appointment of a Canadian ambassador to the Vatican would involve national recognition of the Vatican as a political force in which resides sovereign temporal power.

This is violently contrary to the religious belief of millions of Canadians. Their belief, whether it is right or wrong, should not be wantonly affronted.

If some great spiritual or political issue hung upon such recognition, the matter would deserve the closest possible study.

But no such issue exists within the view of the Canadian people.

Canada's relation to the Vatican is a purely spiritual relation derived from the fact that so many millions of Canadians are adherents of the Roman Catholic Church.

That spiritual relation is adequately served, one would think, by the many capable prelates of the Roman Catholic Church who minister to the needs of their communicants in this country and who also enter largely and profitably, to Canada, into the life of Canadian institutions and, indeed, into the national life of Canada.

Cabby Points Up Warning Against Evils Of Modernism

Yesterday was very warm for May—and for Eleanor and Billy too—so we hand-in-handed it up to Central Park and there got to chinning with an old gent named Timothy Jennings who has been around Manhattan since Rector's was a pup.

Billy Rose

As we were gabbing about this and that, a lot of automobile horns began honking it up, and looking over toward the 72nd Street entrance we could see the traffic was snarled for a solid block.

"Progress!" snorted Timothy. "You folks happen to see Reader's Digest this month?"

"I did happen to see Reader's Digest this month," I said, "but what's it got to do with progress?"

"Some interesting statistics in it. Back in the horse-and-buggy days, a man could get around this town at the rate of 11 miles an hour. Today, in a 100-horsepower car, he's lucky if he averages six."

Maybe Matter For City Hall

"Why don't you take it up with the City Hall?" deadpanned Eleanor.

"Starting as far back as 1867," said Timothy, "my father did take it up with City Hall, but all he ever got for his yelling was a sore throat."

"Exactly what did you father yell about?" I asked.

"At first, about the new-fangled elevated railway on Greenwich Street. He got up a petition claiming that it shut out the sun, fouled up the air and made people sick to their stomachs. Besides which he argued that the pillars in the street slowed down horse traffic and made it tough for a hackie to earn an honest dollar."

"Why was your father so concerned about the hackies?" asked my wife.

"Best reason in the world—he was one himself. But actually it wasn't all dollars and cents with him. You see, he was sort of a crusader and used to spend his nights reading those back-to-nature books by Thoreau. I remember his predicting that if folks didn't stop trying to improve on nature, they'd wind up being trapped by their own smart-Alec inventions."

He Went Along With Progress

"Did you agree with your dad?" I asked.

"Not when I was young," said Timothy. "By the time I was fixing to get married, the elevated systems were beginning to spread out, and hansom cabbies were finding the going pretty tough. So instead of listening to my father I attended classes set up by the transit company, and in no time at all I was a motorman on the Second Avenue El. But right up to the day he passed away, my pop kept insisting that nothing would ever replace the horse, and he warned me to save every cent I could against the time people came down to earth again."

"Did you follow his advice?" asked Eleanor.

"To the letter," said Timothy, "and a mighty good thing, too. By the time they tore down the Second Avenue El I had a pretty fair piece of cash in the bank and was able to go into business for myself. Let you out on the corner of 59th?"

"The corner's fine," I said.

"Whoa, Alberta!"

We got out of the hansom and I paid Timothy for the ride. He tipped his plug hat, and as we turned to go he leaned forward and patted his horse on the rump.

"Maybe Thoreau and Timothy's dad weren't so dumb," said Eleanor.

Editor, Bulletin — Would you please insert this letter in your paper.

Once again, as every year at this time, the patrons riding the Highlands bus are having a tough time standing on their feet, when the bus is starting and stopping. Who gets the blame? Correct—the motorman.

For the information of the public, there are now seven buses on this run instead of the former 10, and these buses now run 10 minutes apart instead of eight. True, there are less passengers now than during the winter, but certainly not to the extent of giving the public this kind of service.

When the bus driver has to drive 45 mph between stops to keep on schedule, it's no wonder people get thrown to the floor.

So if you patronize route No. 2 and don't get thrown to the floor, consider yourself lucky, but if you do end up on the floor don't blame the motorman, just think of the city fathers who are saving money, and driving around in their own or city-owned cars.

MOTORMAN.

Suggestion For ETS

Editor, Bulletin. — Will you please allow me space in your paper to place a bouquet, and throw a few brick-bats?

My target is the Edmonton Transit System. I think the ETS is one of the best on the continent. I think they are doing a wonderful job, considering the way our city is spread over the map. The fare is cheaper than others that I have heard of.

But there are many good things that a few changes could make better. For example, I think it would be much better if the buses would stop before crossing the intersections. My reasons are that about half of the time the bus is held up by a red light, and they would have plenty of time to unload and load up while they are waiting on the light.

At the present time when they pull up to their stop there is very often a car or a truck standing in front of them so close to the line or maybe a little over it that when they start they have to go very slow and the front of the bus is so far out that it stops some of the traffic.

If they stop on the other side of the street there would be nothing in front of them to slow them up.

I am not offering this as advice but only as asuggestion.

Now here is where I am going to throw the brick-bats. I will take you now to 124 street and 118 avenue. I doubt if they would call in all the experts they have, such as the town planner, the man of the Miracle Mile, and the bridge spotter, that they could not devise a more inconvenient and dangerous arrangement than they have there now.

If you are travelling north on the 124 street bus, they will turn around at the avenue and let you off at the southwest corner. If you want the Calder bus you will find it quietly waiting on the north sied of 118 avenue. If you want the Kingsway bus, it is waiting on the north side of 118 avenue and on the east side of 124 street, so to get to the Calder bus you have to cross an avenue.

It is no wonder that it is often called the death trap.

Now here is another suggestion.

Why not have all buses stop and start from the south corners. Then all passengers can transfer from bus to bus without getting off the sidewalk. I ask the ETS to either make the changes that I have suggested or at least something better than the one they have now.

Keeping City Clean

Editor, Bulletin — More power to your arm, keep up the good work of getting our streets cleaned. But there is just another angle to this cleaning. If Edmonton is the dirtiest city on the continent then, to judge by the sidewalks in the residential sections, Edmonton housewives are the dirtiest on the continent.

If the city would get out an army of men to scrape and clean the ten or twenty years accumulation of dried mud and sand in front of residences and then have the city pass a law that every housewife must sweep the sidewalk in front of her home whenever dirty, as the merchants have to do every morning, then Edmonton would soon be the cleanest city on the continent.

As for small garbage cans, we have puzzled our brains and have come up with two theories. Garbage collection takes place every ten days or two weeks so the oil drums are full and overflowing. They could easily have trucks with a drop back on to which the oil drums could be rolled and emptied but the city must be going to build a factory to manufacture small garbage cans with lids which we will be compelled to buy. Of course one will only hold a couple of days' garbage so we must save all tin cans from paint cans to sardine tins and these are to be spread on the road in front of the houses as the city is going to pave the streets with tin. Don't forget the garbage can lids after the trucks have run over them, that will cover more space than an empty tin of tomato soup.

Case of Gordon Martin

Editor, Bulletin—We are amazed that anyone with the apparent intelligence of Jack Scott could write such a thing, in fact, we find it difficult to follow his line of reasoning as stated in the article. Legally he may have an argument, but as far as political morals are concerned, his color seems to be a bit bright for the majority of level-thinking Canadians.

Everyone is familiar with the tactics employed by Communist agents the world over, so what guarantee has Mr. Scott that Mr. Martin, an admitted Communist, wouldn't use his knowledge and ability to interpret law as a means of furthering the cause of Communism in Canada? Doubtless, as a lawyer, he would be in a position to further the twisted ideology of the Reds in a subtle or otherwise manner. We have too many of these people already in respected offices, who use the advantages and freedoms of our democracy to gain their offices and then proceed to exercise every means at their disposal to debase our way of life.

We cannot for the life of us understand why such people as Mr. Martin bother to live here when our political philosophy is so radically different from theirs. Although when one stops to think, the reason that they are becomes quite apparent, and it is for precisely this reason that we heartily endorse the Board's decision in refusing him permission to practice law. If all Communists were forcibly shipped to Russia and made to live under conditions as they are reported to be behind the Iron Curtain, perhaps they would quickly change their views.

As for Mr. Scott, we say again that we fail to see how any non-Communist can feel any sympathy for the breed, whoever they are. The action of the Board in our estimation was entirely commendable. If there were more decisions of this kind there would be no Alger Hiss cases.

Yours very truly.
R. W. MERCHANT,
S. F. BURGMAN.

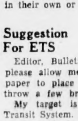
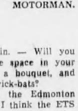
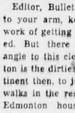
TODAY'S QUESTION — Do you think there should be a curfew for Edmonton children?



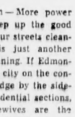
D. SMITH



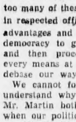
K. BILLINGHAM



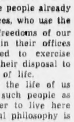
M. DOBBS



C. SMITH



D. CHOBATAR



W. CHUDYK

D. S. SMITH, 10154-101 street, assistant manager: No, not particularly. I would think it a very poor society if parents are not able to take care of their own children.

KAY BILLINGHAM, 12521-79 street, stenographer: I am not in favor of a curfew. When I was a child we had one and it used to almost kill me to get in at a certain time. Parents should watch out for the children.

MISS M. DOBBS, 9627-84 avenue, housekeeper: There should be a curfew. This way mothers would know that their children would be safe at home at a certain time.

C. H. SMITH, 11435-72 street, salesman: Yes, there should be a curfew. Young children should not be allowed outdoors unless under the supervision of some older person.

D. CHOBATAR, 10803-95 street, stenographer: I personally think that there should be a curfew. It would keep youngsters out of mischief which usually arises about this time of day.

WILLIAM CHUDYK, 9627-84 avenue, laborer: Children cannot be watched at night by anyone in particular and I think there should be a curfew.

Sleep-Talkers Need To Be Answered

Our middle daughter, Jill, has begun to talk in her sleep. If I am looking more haggard than usual, this is the reason. In fact, I'm seriously contemplating pitching a small tent out in the back yard in my pursuit of a decent night's sleep.

Perhaps I should explain, first, that I am a very light sleeper. Conditions must be just right. I have never been able to find sleep in a Pullman berth, for example. I was awake fours years in the Army. Put me in a foreign bed and I lie there, owl eyes staring into the darkness.

Indeed it has taken me several years to get used to the shanty in which we live. Since the east side of the house began settling, as I believe I mentioned once before, all the doors and windows have been behaving in a most extraordinary manner.

A slight whisp of a breeze will open the front door, causing two of the windows to slide slowly down and the back door to creak open. Sometimes one of the windows comes down hard, with a bang. This occasionally starts a faucett dripping in the bathroom.

Exhaustion Brings Sleep

For over six months after I got out of the service and came home (and pretty badly in need of a nap, too) I lay awake night after night, up on one elbow, ears pricked up like a collie dog, listening to all this go on. Sheer exhaustion finally came to my rescue.

Brown Eyes has always been a night-time talker. It was one of the first unexpected aspects of matrimony I had to get used to.

One night a week or so after we were married she turned to me at about 4 a.m. and said, in a strong, clear voice, "They're burning all the leaves." I looked about me wildly and it was hours before I calmed down.

By experiment I discovered that the only way to cut off this dream-world dialogue was to make some brisk remark that would, as it were, close the subject.

Some Closing Remark Does It

After the remark about the leaves, for example, I might say soothingly, "They're all burned now, go to sleep." Or, if she would suddenly cry "Watch out for the boat!" I would pat her and say, "It's gone now, go to sleep."

Then, as now, I preferred to work late at night. Invariably, my late arrival in the boudoir would provoke some startled comment from my wife such as "Watch out for that rake!" or "Never mind the rest of them!" (Two I happen to remember).

I found that the best way to stop this was to hiss, "It's only me, it's only me," when I entered the bedroom, but frequently this would cause our oldest daughter, Judy, to start broadcasting from her room. Judy is a mumbler.

She says things like, "Brooble the fram, brooble the fram!" For some reason this makes me even more tense than my wife's running commentary.

One More Enters Act

One night when I was drowsy Judy said, "Brooble the fram" and I hissed at my wife, "Judy says brooble the fram."

"Put the lid on the water sprinkler," my wife said. "It's all right," I said, "The lid is on. Go to sleep."

I didn't know I had it so good until Jill decided to take after her mother. In our house—or, for that matter, any house with beaverboard partitions—sounds from the adjoining rooms are not merely distinct, but have the effect of being magnified.

And in hot days we leave all the doors open—or they open themselves—and acoustics are just about perfect for the ladies, young and old.

What is sagging the bags under my eyes is the three-way hookup that's now become a regular thing.

Dogs Block Tent Idea

This generally happens at precisely the moment I have sleep in my grasp. Then it starts.

"Bow wow, bow wow," says Jill. I raise my head.

Judy stirs restlessly in her bed. "Maddle widda fraw, maddle widda fraw," she mumbles. I am up on one elbow.

"Never mind the ice cream," my wife says, chuckling at some never-to-be-known joke. I am now sitting upright, head cocked.

"The ice cream is okay," I say. "Go to sleep."

To date I have thought of no way to beat this. I can't wear ear plugs, because then, I would never get to sleep wondering what they were all talking about. I have thought of having three muzzles made, but I know there would be objections.

The tent idea itself is just wishful thinking. It wouldn't work in a neighborhood with so many dogs.

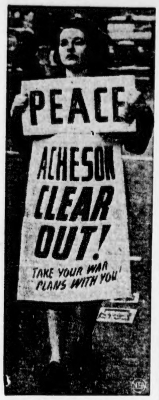
Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Ray Milland, who won an academy award for his rye-soaked performance in "The Lost Week-End," is again doing a picture about drinking.



WOMAN PICKET before Savoy hotel in London carries signs urging U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson to "clear out." Acheson, in London for "Big Three" talks with British and French foreign ministers, was being honored at dinner by Pilgrims Society, an organization for aiding Anglo-American friendship.

But this time the greying Welshman is not prowling for bottles in chandeliers. He portrays a member of Alcoholics Anonymous, the organization which helps chronic drinkers recover their balance.

"I guess it was inevitable," said Milland, who drinks moderately in private life. He portrays an A. A. member who is sent to straighten out a young actress (played by Joan Fontaine) who is on a binge in a hotel room.

I watched the pair go through their first scene in the picture, which is called "Mr. and Mrs. Anonymous." Miss Fontaine was blotto in the hotel room when Milland entered. He started to tell her about A. A.

"Are you a lush?" she mumbled. "Do you drink?"

"I did," he answered with dignity. "Double-A showed me the way to pull myself out."

NOT TOO REALISTIC

George Stevens, producer-director of the new film, said actual meetings of A. A. will not be shown.

"There would be too many sideplots if we showed the meetings, where people tell how they have conquered alcoholism," he remarked. "Instead, we are using one case. Double-A will be used as a background for the story."

GET THE PLOT?

I have learned about Double-A from many of my friends," said Stevens. "The results have been amazing. I have seen people who were hopeless drunks restored to a normal life."

His search for realism did not extend to attending a Double-A meeting. "I wanted to," he said, "but I was afraid people would see me there and start saying, "Oh-oh, Stevens is on the bottle again."

Church Space Lack Scored At Meeting

More church accommodation is needed in Edmonton if the work of the United Church of Canada is to continue.

This was stated last night in home mission report given at Alberta conference of the church in McDougall church.

Report was presented by Rev. W. Bainbridge, who indicated that United church has total seating capacity in Edmonton for only 7,000.

Need of accommodation also prevails at Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and Red Deer, he said.

25TH ANNIVERSARY

Commenting that the Church was this year celebrating its 25th anniversary, Mr. Bainbridge said "We should be interested in a review of the past and then seek to plan the course over which we should travel in the future.

"It is significant that, in 1926, there were 200 ordained ministers working in this conference while, in 1949, the number was 138.

"In addition to this number, there were also 12 lay supplies and six retired ministers serving in the pastorate, or altogether a total of 156," he said.

New president is Dr. Thomas Hart who was installed Monday morning. He succeeds Dr. Robert Simons.

NEW SIGNS

City Clean-Up Battle Gets New Wrinkle

Mayor Sid Parsons has a new wrinkle in his battle to clean up Edmonton streets and keep them clean.

Today, following a tour of downtown lanes, which revealed a great deal of untidiness, he said he has asked City Engineer J. D. A. Macdonald to whip up some new signs. They would read:

"This is our city,
"Yours and mine,
"KEEP IT CLEAN."

That would combine an invitation, an order and a statement of ownership, "all rolled in one," he said.

The signs would be placed where most needed, probably in lanes, where they would possibly stop a lot of loose papers from blowing on to Jasper avenue.

Mayor Parsons also issued another appeal to citizens to see that refuse and debris on their property is piled and bundled ready for pickup by city trucks.

28 Persons Killed In Plane Crash

CALI, Colombia, May 25.—(UP)—Rescue workers reported today that 28 persons were killed when a Lansa Airways plane crashed and burned against the side of 8,000 foot Galeras volcano in the Andes range of southern Colombia yesterday.

The crash occurred five miles west of Pasto, 170 miles south of Cali. Only one survivor was found, a little girl. Reports from Pasto said she was seriously injured.

HAUNTED BY SUSPICION at mysterious death of her sweetheart and his closest friend, Valli and Joseph Cotten find their destinies interwined in mounting drama of "The Third Man" which opens Friday at Capitol Theatre. Picture also stars Orson Welles.

The touring company of "South Pacific" pulled into Los Angeles this week, welcomed by an advance sale of over $500,000. The demand is well warranted; this is the show of the decade.

"South Pacific" is a bitter lesson for Hollywood. The original novel was offered to all the studios at $10,000. It was turned down.

'Third Man' Film Offers Top-Flight Excitement

Something new in excitement is in store for Edmontonians seeing the thrilling Carol Reed production, "The Third Man," opening Friday at the Capitol Theatre.

Valli, the magnetic Italian-born actress; Joseph Cotten and Orson Welles star in the spectacular new melodrama which centres around the death of Joseph Cotten's best friend.

Cotten has the role of a young American writer, in perilous present-day Vienna, unsure whether the unraveling of the murder of his best friend may, or may not blast his hopes of personal happiness.

BLACK MARKETEER

Orson Welles, a big-time black marketeer who holds the key to the murder-packed film, has a new type of part in the picture which enables him to play one of his most imaginative characterizations.

"The Third Man" was mostly produced on location in Vienna so that the impact of one of the screen's most unusual love stories is reinforced by sequences of gripping realism made in the story's actual locales.

Winner of coveted film awards, "The Third Man" is expected to be top contender for the 1950 Academy Award as the best picture of the year.

Co-Operation Of Anti-Red Sects Seen

BOSTON, May 26—(AP)—Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of New York last night called for co-operation between Protestants and Roman Catholics to meet the challenge of Communism.

Speaking to 4,000 delegates of the Northern Baptist Convention Assembly, he said:

"Communism is an ideology that cannot be bombed out of the heads of men. It must be met by an ideology equally dynamic. Christianity is such an ideology."

Long prominent in church union projects, Bishop Oxnam expressed a hope that the Roman Catholic hierarchy in the United States might soon confer with their Protestant brethren on the world suituation.

RULES LAID DOWN

The Vatican last February announced rules under which Roman Catholics may meet with non-Catholics in the interests of Christian unity.

A document over which Pope Pius himself was reported to have worked for some time rules that bishops could authorize such meetings for a period of three years, provided reports of the meetings were made to the holy office at the Vatican.

The document set forth that Roman Catholics, at inter-faith meetings, must not speak of a reunion of Christians in a manner suggesting that those on the outside would bring the church "an essential element that was lacking to her now."

JACOBY on Canasta

By OSWALD JACOBY

"We had a real bang-up argument last night," writes M. B. N. of Dallas, "and it's still going strong. It's a very friendly argument, except that somehow or other nobody has a good word for me.

"Neither side had melded, and each side needed 120 points. My wife finally swooped down on the discard pile, putting down her entire hand to do so. Her 11 cards and the previous discard totalled only 90 points.

"One of the opponents asked what was going on. My wife said she was melding out concealed and therefore didn't need a minimum count.

"The other opponent said we didn't have a canasta. My wife said that there were seven sixes in the discard pile, and that those would be her canasta. She also said that she could meld every card in the discard pile. Both of her statements were quite true.

"Both opponents said that the meld was not legal. They claimed that the canasta in the discard pile didn't count for us until we actually had the pile. They added that even if my wife had a canasta in her own eleven cards, she still couldn't take the discard pile without the minimum count.

"They put it up to me, and I refused to express an opinion. Frankly, I thought the opponents were right but it didn't seem like a good time to say so. My silence got me nowhere at all. The opponents hooted at me for being afraid to talk up, and my wife gave me the old snake-in-the-grass look.

"Who is right, and what should I have done?"

I can tell you who was right, but you won't catch me saying what you should have done about it. In these husband-wife arguments at the card table it's every man for himself.

The opponents were right. No matter what you may be able to meld after you get the discard pile, you must first get the pile. And you can't get the pile unless you have the minimum count. This rule applies, of course, only if the meld is the initial meld for your side.

Q.—Are you ever allowed to take the discard pile and meld out concealed when you cannot make the minimum count? Can you do this if your partner has already melded? And if you do so, aren't you making use of your partner's meld?

A.—If your partner has already melded, you may take the discard pile and meld out concealed even though you cannot make the minimum count. You are helped by the fact that your partner has melded, but that doesn't matter as long as you don't add any cards to his melds.

Q.—My opponent needed 50 points for the first meld. He put down three aces and then put down two sixes to take the six that had just been discarded. Is he allowed to do this with more than the needed 50 points or must he total exactly 50 points to get the discard pile?

A.—He must total at least 50 points. There is no upper limit at all. Even if he puts down a couple of hundred points the meld would be perfectly legal.

May Sets Record For City Homes

620 House Permits All-Time Mark For Single Month

Month of May has been a record one for Edmonton home builders.

With four business days remaining, the month has piled up 620 home-building permits with a total value of $4,310,100, an all-time record for any month.

Previous record month on the city architect and building inspector's books was May, 1949, when an even 600 permits were issued for a total value of $3,903,800.

This May's permit activity is due completely to private builders, while during the same month last year a total of 250 wartime houses helped boost the total.

YEAR'S TOTAL DOWN

In spite of this showing, the year's total to date is still 227 homes and $1,051,352 behind the same period of 1949.

A late spring start on house-building is the reason.

A total of 1,021 permits has been issued so far in 1950, for a total value of $7,153,100.

In the same period a year ago there were 1,248 permits issued for homes, at a value of $8,204,452.

33 Persons Die As Tram Hits Tanker

CHICAGO, May 26.—(AP)—A wall of fire enveloped a crowded street-car after it struck a double trailer gasoline truck last night and 33 persons died in the flames.

Thirty others were injured, at least three critically. About 20 remained in hospitals. Many of the dead and injured were Negroes.

The spreading flames from the thousands of gallons of gasoline in the huge truck set fire to eight two-storey buildings and several automobiles. No bodies were found in the wrecked buildings. But more than 100 persons—mostly Negroes—were made homeless.

END OF RUSH HOUR

The accident occurred near the end of the evening rush hour—7:30 p.m. — near the heavily-populated 63rd and State street district, on the city's south side.

(A similar accident — but far less costly in lives—took place in Toronto in May, 1946. A gasoline trailer truck crashed into a crowded street-car at Bloor and Bathurst streets and burst into flames. Three persons died and 42 were severely injured. The truck, its brakes defective, hurtled down Bathurst hill, with the driver jumping clear before the collision.)

The crash and a deep roar were followed by black smoke and billowing flames that surged along State street like rolling flood waters.

Panic followed the crash. And there was terror and confusion at the scene long into the night.

Thirty-three pieces of fire equipment answered the extra-alarm fire. Four hundred policemen were on duty.

Traffic snarled as more than 20,000 persons milled in the vicinity, flocking to the scene of Chicago's worst street-car accident. It also was Chicago's worst fire disaster since 61 persons died in the La Salle hotel blaze June 5, 1946.

BINGE WITH A BLONDE BLOWS OFF $19,000

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—(AP)—A grey-haired United States Navy lieutenant admitted yesterday, the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported, that he took $19,000 from his ship's safe last November and blew it all on a binge with a blonde.

Agents said he described six months of joy-riding, playing the races and champagne parties.

The FBI and naval intelligence officers arrested Lieut. Bascom B. Boaz, 42-year-old paymaster of the navy tanker Navasota, in nearby Pomona. There, "flat broke," he had taken a job in a nursery at 85 cents an hour.

The blonde, Pearl Rosemary Carter, was found with him in a rooming house, but was not held. Boaz was arraigned on a charge of embezzlement of government funds and desertion from the navy. He was committed to jail pending preliminary hearing June 8.

The veteran officer has a divorced wife and two children living in Long Beach, Calif.

Forces React To Menace Of Commies

OTTAWA, May 26—(CP) — The forces, reacting to the Communist menace, have quietly discharged some servicemen from the post-war forces and for the first time are spelling out one of Communism's basic tenets as a military crime.

The commons defence committee, wading through a husky bill to consolidate and modernize defence legislation, approved last night a clause which takes the place of a one-word offence known as sedition.

It provides for penalties up to life imprisonment for persons liable to military law who:

"Publish or circulate any writing, printing or document in which is advocated, or who teaches or advocates, the use, without the authority of law, of force as a means of accomplishing any governmental change within Canada."

OVERTHROW BY FORCE

That amounts to Communism's advocacy of the overthrow of government by force. Defence department law officers said the clause is taken from the criminal code and told a reporter it is being injected because of the cold war and the Communist threat.

Life imprisonment is the top penalty but there are numerous others that could be imposed, among them plain dismissal from the service.

Thus the clause conceivably might be used as a lever to oust Reds.

TO KILL HIS BOREDOM

Stomach Sickness Started Success Story for Anzac

Because Frank Clune was in bed with a stomach ulcer, he tried writing a book to kill his boredom.

Now he is Australia's best-known author with 30 books to his credit and more in the making, a daily newspaper columnist in Sydney and proprietor of his own radio program.

Clune is in Edmonton today, where he worked in 1913, shovelling gravel during the first building boom.

The Australian has just returned from the Yukon by CP Airlines, where he is gathering material for a new book to be called "Hands Across the Pacific."

The book will describe the relationship of Australia to Fiji Islands, Hawaii and northwestern Canada.

Clune's books are all non-fiction and of the travel-adventure type.

His first book, which sold 50,000 copies, was "Try Anything Once."

A veteran of the First Great War, Clune also served in the North African campaign in the last war as an Australian Comfort Fund association member.

He was with the Aussies in the famous siege of Tobruk.

He once crossed the ocean in a sailing vessel, taking 90 days to reach Australia from Victoria.

He has spent considerable time with the head hunters of New Guinea and has visited practically every country in the world in search of material for his writings.

The Aussie author writes as he talks, and he talks a lot — by his own admission.

His books are attacked in Australia as being "literally stagnant," but sales of the books just continue to soar.

After spending a day or two here, Clune will continue to Montreal. Mrs. Clune is with him.

New Camera Developed That Sees Inside Eye

By Paul F. Ellis
Exclusive to The Bulletin

NEW YORK, May 26—(UP)—Science has now developed a new-type camera that photographs the interior of the eye and makes possible more accurate diagnostic tests in numerous serious ailments.

The camera, designed by Frederick W. Jobe, head of Bausch & Lomb's opthalmic research department, Rochester, N.Y., is expected to have extraordinary value in the diagnosis and treatment of glaucoma, commonly known as "hardening of the eyeball." The disease causes 12 per cent of all blindness.

Spokesman for the company said the camera, which uses a carbon arc light for high intensity illumination, said it was the only one of its kind. It was designed at the request of the U.S. Public Health Service for studies showing relationship between enlarged retinal blood vessels and such vascular disease as high blood pressure and hardening of arteries.

FOR COMPARISONS

It was pointed out the camera may have great value in treating high blood pressure or hardening of arteries because photographs, taken periodically of interior of the eye, may be superimposed so that the diameter and other features of blood vessels may be compared at various stages of treatment.

Such photographs, it was said, are also of value as a diagnostic aid in revealing certain systemic diseases as diabetes, nephritis and tumors of the central nervous system which are evidenced by changes in the retina long before the appearance of clinical symptoms.

The conditions of the eye may be photographed in serial form and photographs used to chart progress. Furthermore, the photographs may be enlarged many times or projected onto a screen for scrutiny by surgeons before and after operations.

IN COLOR, TOO

The camera, said to be simple to operate, photographs the anterior segment of the eye, the lids, the iris, sclera, and can be made in color.

Mason H. Bigelow, president of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, expects the camera to play a part in eye research. He recalled that the number of adults who are blind is growing at the rate of 4,800 a year. He said that because more people are living longer, more men and women are being subjected to blinding diseases that strike most often in later years.

Bar Accepts Young Vet

Hungarian-born Paul Matisz, lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals during Second World War, was admitted to the Alberta Bar, Tuesday, in traditional ceremony presided over by Mr. Justice Hugh John Macdonald.

Now resident at 11108-81 avenue in Edmonton, the young lawyer came to Canada with his parents when he was ten. He attended public and high school in Alsask, Sask., and taught school in that province after attending Saskatoon Normal School.

He graduated in 1942 from University of Alberta with degree of bachelor of education, enlisting in the army immediately afterwards.

He returned to university to study law following army discharge in 1946. For the past year he has been articled to L. Y. Cairns, K.C., who presented him to the Bar, Tuesday.

Married and the father of two children, Mr. Matisz will practice law in Lethbridge and intends to open an office there in June.

French Communists Remain Potent Force

By Joseph E. Dynan

PARIS, May 26—(AP)—When the question is raised — are we down-hearted? — Communist cheerleaders in France answer with a resounding "no."

Despite the Marshall Plan, the Atlantic Pact, economic recovery, and all the Western projects put together, the party in France feels it is more vigorous than ever, if not more numerous. At least, it feels that way for publication.

Florimond Bonte, Communist deputy in the National Assembly and chief of the party's press bureau, admits the party has fewer members now than just after liberation in 1945. But, he quickly adds, the membership rolls now are more solid, more active, more dependable.

"In 1945," he recalled, "it was easy to be a Communist. There was not the propaganda campaign against us, nor the persecution. It takes courage now to be a Communist."

YOUTH IMPORTANT

Bonte said the party is encouraged by current development.

"After losses in membership from 1947 to 1949," said Bonte, "we are beginning to regain ground. Furthermore, many of our new members are young people, those under 30 years old. That is most important to us."

Bonte said party membership in 1947 was 907,785. This fell to 798,459 in 1948, and to 786,855 last year.

French political observers claim the Communists' real strength is only half of the party's official figures. They do not dispute, however, that the party can still poll millions of votes—just how many is anybody's guess.

Bonte himself placed it at about 5,500,000. Political opponents say the Communists can poll only 3,000,000.

TWO THEORIES

No one believes the theory, sometimes advanced, that the Communists have deliberately reduced their ranks in order to achieve a "hard core" of reliable militants. The effect, however, has been the rough equivalent.

"The weak and the wavering have dropped out, that's all," explained Bonte. "The waves come and go but the ocean remains. What we have now is more solid."

The press bureau chief, who was a leading member of the provisional government's consultative assembly in Algiers back in 1943, is emphasizing the enrolment of young people as a guarantee for its future.

Fully half the attendance at the party's national congress early in April was in the 20-30 age group, he said.

Recent figures on the circulation of Communist party publications do not fully support Bonte's statements. L'Humanite, the party's official organ, had a circulation of 289,000 at the end of 1948. A year later it had fallen to 234,000. Similarly, Se Soir, a Communist evening paper, dropped from 285,000 in 1948 to 215,000 at the end of 1949.

HINTS AT ALTERNATIVE

Bonte predicted that the national assembly will adopt a new election law this Spring as a prelude to national elections next year.

He hinted, but would not elaborate, that the party would find other means of expressing its convictions.

"No matter how much they cut the number of our seats in Parliament, we will still speak for 5½ million French voters. If these votes do not find expression in the assembly, they will find it elsewhere," he said.

Pastel Shade Suits, Gowns for Teen-Agers

By Jackie Seifert

Gals, have you decided that last year's glad rags are a sorry sight and that you'd better start working on Dad for a new wardrobe? Well then, let's see what's new in the line of fashion.

You all know that a suit is the basis of any chick's wardrobe. This summer you'll find that many of them are coming in the pastel shades. Navy, however, is still one of the most fashionable colors this year. Roll or petal collars add that suave look with your new short, short, hair-do.

A bright scarf adds so much to the attractiveness of your appearance. You can pick up a pretty chiffon or silk square in almost any desirable shade at any department store.

Our Miss Wilma Van Deelen looked very lovely in her maroon gabardine suit at the Jazz Concert.

So you want something more feminine for those evening dates this summer? Organdy is just the thing—layers and layers of it. You'll find so many pretty gowns in pastel shades with those Chinese collars that are so popular, or those plunging, peek-a-boo neck lines. Very tricky!

And have you looked at those hem lines? Yup, they're getting shorter. So dig up that thimble and thread and start making with the needle.

From the gentlemen's haberdashery you'll find that a neat, man-tailored blouse with studs instead of buttons is a must for the well-groomed adolescent. Madeleine Manning wears hers with a big ornamental safety pin at the neck.

Pushing those cute little ballerina shoes to second place you'll find sponge rubber soled shoes are fast becoming the rage. You can get them in leather or suede uppers in shades from navy to rust and red.

Eire President Interviews Pope

His Holiness Confident That Communism Will Be Overcome

By Joseph W. Grigg
Exclusive to The Bulletin

PARIS, May 26—(UP)—President Sean T. O'Kelly of Ireland said yesterday he is optimistic that the western democracies can overcome the menace of world Communism.

In an exclusive interview, the Irish chief of state said:

"During my recent visit to Rome, His Holiness the Pope, speaking to me of Communism, expressed his conviction that Communism would be overcome and he was optimistic as to being able to overcome it during his life time.

"As an Irishman, a democrat and a Catholic, I share his optimism."

President O'Kelly is staying privately in Paris after a Holy Year pilgrimage to Rome and audience with Pope Pius, followed by three days as a semi-official guest of the French government.

He returned to Dublin today.

IRISH DEMOCRATS

President O'Kelly received this correspondent in the elegant 18th century style salon of the Irish legation here and chatted freely about his impressions of his visits to Rome and Paris and about the world situation generally.

"There can be no doubt," he said, "where the whole-hearted sympathies of our people lie. The Irish people are in the vast majority Catholics, and they are democrats to the core. They never for one moment would stand for domination or dictatorship of any sort."

President O'Kelly said he found Pope Pius full of quiet confidence that the Catholic church would come out on top in the world struggle against Communism.

"My wife and I are old friends of His Holiness," he said. "We have known him since the days when he was Cardinal Secretary of State, and it was a wonderful experience for us to spend half an hour in audience with him.

"We found him in much better health than we had expected, calm, optimistic and full of hope and courage for the future. He expressed the strongest convicton that despite its present difficulties and persecutions at the hands of Communism, the Catholic church would triumph in the end.

"His Holiness said to me we would overcome Communism, and in his own life time."

WANTS CO-OPERATION

President O'Kelly said the Irish Republic is determined to continue to make a prominent contribution to the two major international bodies to which it belongs — the organization for European Economic Co-operation and the Council of Europe.

"The amount of aid we receive under the Marshall Plan is not large," he said. "But we prefer it that way, since our natural trade situation makes it difficult for us to get dollars. We didn't want to bite off more than we could chew and then have difficulty in repaying. But the Marshall aid we have received has been of great advantage to us, and we are determined to continue to play an active role in the OEEC and the work of the European Economic Co-operation."

First Refugee Children Returned

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, May 26.—(AP)—Yugoslavia Tuesday sent eight Greek children back to their parents after more than two years of exile from their native land. This was the first compliance by Yugoslavia to a United Nations call for return of refugee children who were separated from their parents by the Greek civil war.

The expansion of British trade was shown by the increase of 50 per cent in the attendance of the British Industries Fair held in London and Birmingham from May 8 to 19, British railways report.

INSURANCE EMERGENCY BULLETIN

from members of

THE WESTERN CANADA INSURANCE UNDERWRITERS' ASSOCIATION

writing

Fire - Automobile - Casualty - Personal Property Floater Insurance

Realizing the concern in the minds of all their policyholders in areas throughout Greater Winnipeg and Manitoba where flood conditions exist, the Board Insurance Companies announce that the following measures have been taken to safeguard their policyholders' interests:—

1. For the protection of policyholders, all insurance contracts expiring between the period May 1st to June 15th, 1950, will be AUTOMATICALLY renewed for the same amount and subject to the same policy conditions unless other arrangements are, or have been made.

2. Where it is necessary to remove household effects and personal property to temporary locations, insurance policies are extended to cover these articles until conditions return to normal.

3. Fully realizing that in this emergency it will not always be possible for policyholders to comply with certain policy conditions, such as the use of gasoline, temporary vacancy or unoccupancy, and the maintenance of automatic sprinkler and alarm systems, such non-compliance will not be regarded as violation of policy conditions.

4. Insurance Companies and their Agents are doing everything in their power to maintain their facilities and services to the public, and to co-operate with flood authorities during this emergency.

The granting of these emergency privileges will alleviate, to some extent, the natural concern of policyholders who, through circumstances beyond their control, have not yet been able to contact their Insurance Agent.

Three-Dimension TV Sets Invented

Rescue, Clean-Up Controlled Remote From Radio-Activity

CHICAGO, May 26 — (UP) — Atomic scientists have developed three-dimensional television sets which someday may act as "eyes" for robots performing rescue and clean-up operations in atom-bombed areas, it was announced yesterday.

An announcement by the Argonne National Laboratory here told of big advances being made by its remote control engineering division to permit scientists to operate from a safe distance while experimenting with radioactive materials.

It described the development of the three-dimensional TV system as an "important step in the development of equipment and techniques needed by scientists in order to protect themselves from radiation . . ."

The new television cameras may someday act as "eyes" for "master slave" units with almost-human arms and hands, which will be sent into atom-bombed areas "rendered uninhabitable by radioactive materials," said Dr. H. L. Hull, director of the engineering division.

REMOTE CONTROL

Scientists could control the slaves by viewing three-dimensional screens set up miles from the atom disaster.

"Applications in weapons work may include handling of explosive materials and de-arming or disposal of bombs," Hull said. "Industrial applications will also suggest themselves, especially chemical plant operations involving toxic materials."

He said the new "stereo" TV units were constructed by modifying standard television equipment. Twin lenses, corresponding to human eyes, view the radioactive materials. At the receiving end, viewers wear special polarized spectacles which fuse the two pictures into a single three-dimensional image. An alternate system, involving the use of cathode ray tubes and a half-silvered mirror with polarizing filters, eliminates the necessity for the spectacles.

Previously, scientists had to peer through periscopes or thick lenses set in concrete walls while working with dangerous materials. But, Hull said, "the use of three-dimensional television will enable (the scientist) to view and perform operations as if he were at the scene of activity."

NOW FOR THE SLAVE

Meanwhile, engineers are working to develop an electronic "slave."

The scientists now use mechanical "slaves," turning handles to operate the arms and hands like a puppeteer manipulates his dolls. An electric slave has been developed but the buttons and switches do not give the same degree of dexterity as the mechanical type.

The remote control engineers hope the electronic-type machine will enable the scientist "to perform virtually any operation which he could perform with his arms."

As a result of the three-dimension TV sets and the electronic slave, "the operator will be able to transport his hands and eyes to a remote point and carry out manipulations normally and naturally," Hull said.

Tax Exemptions On Roosevelt's Estate Spurned

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y., May 26.—(AP)—The family of the late President Roosevelt yesterday renounced any claims of tax benefits his trust estate might receive if it were established that he died as a soldier—not as a civilian.

They dissociated themselves from an action brought by the majority of trustees of the Roosevelt trust estate. The trustees asked an intermediate account of their actions.

The trustees of the trust estate of $1,332,558.03—not the entire amount left by the late president—are Basil O'Connor, chairman of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis; Henry T. Hackett, a Poughkeepsie lawyer; and James Roosevelt.

Vice-President Of Bank Held For Swindle

CIRCLEVILLE, O., May 26 — (UP)—A 68-year-old bank executive and one-time state bank examiner sat in jail today, charged with swindling $7,000 from the Circleville Savings and Banking Co.

FBI agents arrested Nelson E. Reicheldfelder, vice-president of the bank, yesterday. He was arraigned before Federal commissioner Willard C. Walter in Chillicothe, O.

Reicheldfelder offered no explanation for the shortage, Walter said.

"He waived examination and said he wanted to get it over with as soon as possible," Walter said.

BOISE, Idaho, May 26.—(AP)—Senator W. A. Buchanan of Lethbridge, publisher of the Lethbridge Herald, was elected president of the Pacific Northwest International Circulation Managers Association as the executives ended their 27th annual convention Tuesday.

Tacoma, Wash., was selected site for the 1951 convention.

SERVICE WOMEN ARE DISCUSSED BY MEMBERS

OTTAWA, May 26—(CP)—Percy Wright (CCF—Melfort) doesn't think women in the services should be left to the whims of the defence minister alone in any new war.

Furthermore, all other members of the commons defence committee agreed with him last night.

At Mr. Wright's suggestion, they amended a clause in the omnibus defence bill under discussion that would allow discipline regulations affecting women in the services to be limited or modifier by regulations approved by the defence minister alone.

The amendment rules that all such changes must have the approval of the entire cabinet.

Calgary Peace Council Asks Damages For Riot

CALGARY, May 26—(CP)—A demand for full restitution from the City of Calgary for property damage to the hall in which the Dean of Canterbury spoke Monday night will be made by the Calgary Peace Council, sponsors of the meeting.

This was revealed in a statement last night by council chairman Rev. D. McKeen Reid.

Windows in the hall were smashed, and eggs and tomatoes were tossed at the building by a riotous crowd of youths, who swarmed around the downtown auditorium while the Red Dean spoke.

The demand will be made "in view of the civic authorities' failure to maintain public order."

WANT INQUIRY

The council will also demand that the city hold a public inquiry in order to fix responsibility for the instigation of the riot.

Damage to the hall, owned by the Association of United Ukrainian Canadians, was estimated at $100.

The peace council will pay for all damages, said Mr. Reid, "but we hope city council will see fit to reimburse us for the loss."

City Solicitor E. M. Breden said the peace council has no legal basis on which to demand restitution from the city.

Atomic Power Seen By 1960 For Industry

TORONTO, May 26 — (BUP) — Atomic power for Canada's industry by 1960. That's the prediction of Dr. L. G. Cook, a scientist at the Chalk River atomic energy plant.

"Ships and factories will be atom-powered in 10 years," he told the annual convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. "But not planes."

Dr. Cook forecast that by 1960, atomic energy will be cheaper than coal.

He said the weight of protective equipment made it difficult to convert atomic energy for use in aircraft.

Robbery Motive For Sheehy Slaying

BONN, Germany, May 26.—(AP)—Officials said Tuesday that three German refugees from Silesia have been charged with the murder of Sir John Sheehy, British military government financial adviser who was shot to death by intruders in his home near Nerford a year ago.

Robbery was the apparent motive.

HELICOPTERS PLAN FIRST AIR BALLET

PARIS, May 26.—(Reuters)—Four helicopters glided, pirouetted and swung about the sky here Wednesday, rehearsing what Orly airport officials claim will be the world's first air ballet.

The ballet is to be staged at the Orly airport festival on June 11.

Directing the pilots was Russian-born Serge Lifar, ballet master at the Paris Opera, who composed the ballet.

The helicopters' repertoire includes marches, gavottes and quadrilles.

Boy Strangled

DAVENPORT, Ia., May 26—(AP)—Efforts of a 10-year-old boy to get his roller skates out of a locked garage ended in his death. Michael Callahan was strangled when the heavy frame of a propped-open garage window fell on him as he tried to crawl through it and obtain his skates.

JOSEPHINE'S HAPPY EVENT MAY BE SOON

AUSTWELL, Tex., May 26—(UP)—Josephine, the only female whooping crane in captivity, today kept up the suspense of whether or not she's a mother.

The activity around the nest where she and her mate, Chips, have been warming their precious egg for weeks looks mighty suspicious, Julian A. Howard, manager of the Arkansas Wildlife Refuge here, said.

Howard, keeping a close watch from a 45-foot observation tower, promised an announcement "would be forthcoming soon'"

Foulkes May Be Next RCMP Commissioner

By G. E. LEIGHTON
Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, May 26—No one in authority will confirm or deny it, of course, at this stage, but there are strong beliefs here that the next commissioner of RCMP will be the present army chief of the general staff.

Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes has held the appointment of C. G. S. since 1945. Commissioner S. T. Wood has headed the RCMP since 1938. Normally, the appointment of chief of the general staff is made for a period of four years but there is no bar to renewal for any term the government might declare.

Commissioner Wood has passed 60, having almost been born in the RCMP of which his father also was commissioner. His life time career in the force has enabled him to accumulate far more than the necessary years of service to entitle him to maximum pension.

When and if the commissioner retires and is succeeded by General Foulkes, it will by no means set a precedent. Those familiar with the police recall that Commissioner MacBrien was also a general officer of the army in the war of 1914-18 before taking his police appointment.

The mere possibility of General Foulkes' transfer brings renewed discussion of claimants to the C.G.S. appointment. Lt. Gen. Guy Simonds, now presiding over the Royal Military Staff College at Kingston, is most prominently mentioned in such information debates, both because of his high rank and his combat service.

But everybody recognizes that these are not necessarily the final and decisive factors which may control the department's recommendations for cabinet approval, nor the cabinet's decision.

Manager Transferred

WESTLOCK, May 26 — Roy Boddy, manager of the Bank of Montreal here for the past three and a half years has been appointed to the Vegreville brach.

He will replace W. H. Beacom who is retiring. Frank Roberts of Edgerton will replace Mr. Boddy here.

TEARS FINGER

Dunsworth Is Injured

By Bart Gibb

Eskimos suffered their first casualty of the season last night at Clarke Stadium, when Brian Dunsworth, right half back, suffered a severely mangled finger on his right hand.

Dunsworth, on his way to the workout, cut across the Stadium and climbed the fence. When he jumped down onto the practice field his right hand caught in the barbed wire, tearing open the middle finger.

The young backfielder was rushed to the Royal Alex Hospital for treatment.

Spring training winds up this Sunday afternoon, with the annual Oil Bowl game at Clarke Stadium at 2:30.

Coach Annis Stukus has divided the thirty-odd gridders into two clubs, and claims that the boys (mostly local) have been going through some tough training, so should put on a good show.

Manager Al Anderson announced last night that it is planned to take up a silver collection at the game in aid of the local Junior Football League.

It also was announced last night that tickets for the coming season will go on sale in about 10 days.

Members of the Touchdown Club will get first choice of seats, balance of which will then be up for sale to the general public.

Nelson Greene, voted rookie of the year in 1948 when with Ottawa Rough Riders, and approached by Eskimo officials down east last winter, recently signed on the dotted line with Regina.

Greene, a fullback, was out of action last season because of an injured knee.

It is understood that his main reason for going to Regina was to join former Ottawa sidekicks, Matt Anthony and Ken Charlton.

Dog Fanciers In Field Trials

Hours of hard work will pay off at the weekend for owners of prize-winning entries when the annual spring trials of the Edmonton Sporting Dog club are held at Edmonton Beach, 35 miles west of the city.

Opening stakes will be held Saturday afternoon, with an all-day Sunday program designed to finish off the trials.

It's anticipated that not only will the pride of the local field trial aristocracy be on hand but as well pooches from all over Canada will be turned loose by their owners in an all-out bid for the laurels.

Open all-age, novice, and puppy stakes will claim the attention of owners and dogs.

Frank Barrigan, whose "Duke" (Eb of Whetmore) recently figured in a "lost dog" incident with Norman Lee's Cralling Dan 2nd, otherwise "Danny," has been appointed field marshal.

"Duke" and "Danny" wandered away from their kennels a couple of weeks ago and before being located met up with a porcupine, with somewhat disastrous results, particularly to "Duke."

However, both "wanderers" are reported fit and ready for the weekend.

Road signs, to be placed along the Edmonton Beach highway, will direct competitors and spectators to the trial grounds. Valuable prizes will be awarded.

Senior 'B's' In Twin-Bill

Texaco Oilers, behind the fine hurling of young Ken Bailey, drubbed Runte's Outlaws 15-7 at Diamond Park, while Canucks edged South Side 8-7 at the RCAF diamond in Senior "B" Baseball league fixtures played last night.

Bailey, twin brother of rookie shortstop Don Bailey of the Big Four league-leading Dodgers, twirled a neat five-hitter in stopping the Outlaws.

His mates climbed on the offerings of two Runte pitchers for 16 hits.

Jim Pruden had a perfect night at the plate with four hits and a walk in five trips to the plate to pace the Oilers' sluggers.

A seven-run sixth inning enabled Canucks to squeeze through for their victory over the South Side nine.

A combination of three walks, an error, hit-by-pitcher, singles by George Soloman and Herb Biever, and doubles by Harry Ruptash and Bill Skakun sent seven Canuck runs across the plate.

South Side had a big inning in the second when they counted five runs. Two errors, singles by Ray Schieve and Bill Anderson and a two-base knock by Jim Hastings and Bud Landiuk doing the damage.

Yanks Sweep Clean On Western Jaunt

NEW YORK, May 26. — (CP) — You couldn't blame western cities in the American league for shouting a healthy "good riddance" as the Yankees headed for home yesterday.

The Bronx Bombers completed their first swing through the west, without loss of a game, by whipping Detroit 6-4 for their eighth straight victory and their 13th in 14 games.

Tommy Byrne, a "Tiger Tamer" from way back needed help from Joe Page in the eighth to save his fourth decision. Byrne now holds a 10-2 edge over Detroit during his major-league career.

Yogi Berra's grand-slam homer off Art Houtteman in the fifth inning provided the victory margin, but Byrne was routed in the eighth on homers by George Kell and Hoot Evers.

GRAND SLAM BY DROPO

Boston Red Sox needed a grand-slam home run by Walt Dropo to win a slugfest from St. Louis Browns, 15-12.

Sox' Vern Stephens belted his ninth circuit clout in the third inning with two on. Al Zarilla and Clyde Vollmer also pounced the ball out of the park for Sox.

Home runs by Paul Lehner, Sam Chapman and Pete Suder, plus Bobby Shantz's six-hit pitching, gave Philadelphia Athletics a 6-1 triumph over Chicago White Sox.

LEMON HURLS 3-HITTER

At Cleveland, Bob Lemon pitched a three-hitter as the Indians shut out Washington Senators 3-0 and moved the Tribe into a fourth-place tie with the losers.

Over in the National League, Brooklyn Dodgers ended a successful home stand, defeating Chicago Cubs 5-4 for their ninth victory in 12 Ebbets Field starts.

Home runs by George Shuba and Roy Campanella featured Brooklyn's 12-hit attack

St. Louis Cardinals won a 13-inning thriller from New York Giants, 7-5 largely on some sharp relief pitching by Alpha Brazle. The marathon lasted three hours and 40 minutes.

Brazle took over from Howie Pollet in the sixth and blanked the Giants on three hits the rest of the way.

At Philadelphia, big Bob Miller, rookie righthander, held Pittsburgh Pirates to eight scattered hits for a 3-0 triumph, his second against no defeats. The victory enabled the Phils to keep within a game of the league-leading Dodgers.

ROCHESTER—(SF) — Rochester cagers hit a .603 per cent February 19 to defeat New York by a score of 105-92 in the pro league.

NEWLY-OBTAINED shortstop, Merrill Combs, right, formerly of Red Sox, is welcomed to Washington Senators by manager Bucky Harris and Sam Dente. Dente switched to second base to make room for his minor-league double-play partner.

Cloverdale Cops Junior Soccer Tilt

Cloverdale juniors handed Ukraina a 4-3 defeat last night in an Edmonton and District Junior Football (soccer) league game at Clarke stadium.

Cloverdale opened scoring early in the second half and shot ahead 2-0 on goals by Gordon Baldwin and Jimmy Fox. They maintained their lead the rest of the way despite the all-out efforts of the Ukraina club to tie up the match.

HATALA NOTCHED TWO

Five minutes after the halfway mark, Cloverdale's inside right, Baldwin, who played a terrific game, slammed in the first goal on a pass from outside left Jimmy Fox.

Several minutes later Fox gave the South Side club their 2-0 lead when outside right Bob Armstrong fed him the ball at the goal mouth

The Ukrainian club weren't to be outdone, and forward Berezowski charged through to put Ukraina on the score sheet.

KEPT PLUGGING

Ukraina again climbed within one goal of the South Siders when Hatala cracked a penalty shot clean into the hemp.

With only five minutes left to play, Baldwin set up the picture goal of the tilt. He outran two Ukraina players down the right side of the field and booted a smart pass across the net to Sterling, who headed the ball into the goal.

Then Hatala drove a hard drive past Cloverdale netminder Roy Bastian seconds before the final whistle to make the score 4-3.

Cloverdale: Bastian; Esterby, Tronson; Ross, Bowen, Hoskis; Fox, Starling, Ashley, Armstrong; subs: Larson, Edgar

Ukraina: Bayecock; Lwayshyn, Marcichiw; Melnychuk, Hatala, Stcherba; Shivec, Balahursk, Tatchyn, Berezowski, Petroetchak

The People Write . . . Their Pats and Pans

S. G. (Spiff) Evans, assistant publicity director, Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto: "Just a few lines to let you know that Marlboros arrived home safely. We moved up Bay street in a huge parade, were welcomed at City Hall and afterwards had a reception at the Gardens.

"May I thank you and your colleagues for your kindness to us on our trip and for your fine coverage of the series?"

★ ★ ★ ★

Comment: Now that's a mighty fine gesture on the part of Mr. Evans, even if it is just part of his job. Certainly those Marlboros will be welcomed back anytime. Ditto Mr. Evans.

Stan Ward, Bank of Nova Scotia, Winnipeg: "Am enclosing an editorial I clipped from last night's Winnipeg Free Press. Thought you might like to know how the people in Winnipeg feel about Edmonton's grand effort to raise funds.

"My introduction to Winnipeg certainly leaves much to be desired, but I hope the flood work won't continue much longer. (Ed. Note: Stan Ward, former president of Maple Leaf Athletic club here, only recently transferred to the 'Peg.)

"Keep plugging that Manitoba Flood Relief fund. The damage is unbelievable . . . misery and suffering of some is terrific. I have a family staying with me . . . father, expectant mother and three boys, who have five and one-half feet of water in their living room.

"Met Ron Matthews the other day—had a great season with Sydney—would be a good acquisition to bolster the Flyer rearguard. I believe he would like to stay in the west next season."

★ ★ ★ ★

Comment: Like a lot of other "Winnipeggers," Stan Ward has been doing his share to beat off the mighty Red river . . . filling and packing sand-bags, skipping a lot of sleep, providing shelter for folks driven out of their homes.

As for plugging the Flood Relief fund, that's something everybody, in all other parts of Canada, will have to keep doing for a long time.

"Baseball Enthusiast," City: "Whatever became of umpire Fred Lupul, you ask. Well, it seems the gent is still around. I understand he umpired at Fort Saskatchewan on May 24.

"Do you suppose they think he is still OK or maybe they are not very fussy? (Ed. Note: I detect a note of sarcasm at this point.)

"One thing I can say for him is that he never puts his hands in his pockets like a certain somebody that has had SO MUCH training in big league umpiring across the border."

Comment: It's good to know that colorful Fred Lupul hasn't thrown in the towel just because Big Four Baseball league heads couldn't—or wouldn't—meet his wage demands.

Here was a fellow who brought more than just a blue suit and an indicator to the role of umpiring.

★ ★ ★ ★

Reg Ireland, Vermilion: "Regarding your comments on Man of Iron in your column of May 23, would like to advise that (Man of Iron) is, for the second year, standing at Vermilion and not at Ryley.

"Last year was the first time this horse stood for service (as previous to that he had been racing on the western circuit, where he established a splendid record.) He serviced a total of 19 mares."

★ ★ ★ ★

Comment: Hurrah for Man of Iron. The son of immortal Man o' War is doing better than I thought. Let's hope he's a big success at stud. It would mean a great deal to the thoroughbred breeding industry in these parts.

My thanks, Mr. Ireland, for straightening me out on this one.

Al Walsh, 611 Somerset Building, Winnipeg: "Enclosed is a clipping from today's Free Press which hands orchids to you. Am just passing it along in case it was not brought to your attention.

"Trust, though, you'll return to your own corner immediately after this flood emergency has passed."

★ ★ ★ ★

Comment: Mr. Walsh, who once raced a thoroughbred or two in these parts, qualifies as yet another ex-Edmontonian who isn't carrying any torch for Winnipeg, even if he does reside there now.

Since staking out a claim in the Manitoba capital, Walsh has come to realize, as we have for some time, that Winnipeg sports stadia, generally speaking, leave much to be desired by comparison with those in Edmonton.

Johnny Black, Yellowknife, N.W.T.: "Dutch (Van Deelan) and I are nearing the end of our contract here and plan on coming home June 15.

"We put in enough hockey this winter to keep us in trim and anticipate no trouble in that regard next fall."

Comment: Now if someone will just wrench ex-Flyer Black out of the clutches of one Eddie Shore, he'll make some team in the WCHL quite a hockey player. Ditto the rough-and-ready Van Deelan, who does NOT belong to Shore.

Purchase Dyck

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 26 (AP)—The outright purchase of outfielder Jim Dyck from Baltimore of the International League was announced yesterday by Bob Tarleton, president of the San Antonio Missions of the Texas League. Dyck hit .287 while with Kansas City in the American Association last year.

Leave For Italy

HOLLYWOOD — Herschel, the costume designer, and Courtney Haslam, wardrobe director, have left for Rome and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's production of "Quo Vadis." Both Herschel and Haslam spent eight months in the Italian capital last year making preliminary preparations for the more than 10,000 costumes to be used in the technicolor production.

Star Writes Novel

HOLLYWOOD—Ray Milland and Doug Spencer, to celebrate completion of their 56,000-word novel, "Room for Doubt," hosted the cast and crew of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "A Life of Her Own" at lunch.

OPEN TONIGHT

Dodgers Primed For Buff Tilts

Things are looking up for Jim Ryan. They are, for instance, much improved over what they were just a couple of weeks back.

Ryan, recently appointed manager of Cal's Dodgers by general manager Ken Samis, was in Winnipeg at that time. The Red River was on the rampage. And Ryan's mother, like so many other residents of the 'Peg, was finding the going a little rough.

So big Jim made a hurried trip to the Manitoba capital and, if our information is correct, quickly evacuated his mother to Edmonton.

Of course that's all behind him now, so that Ryan can spend all his spare time 'worrying' about the Dodgers.

Actually there's little or no reason to lose any sleep over a team that's riding the crest of the Big Four Baseball league wave with six wins in seven starts.

Already those Dodgers, who as the Cubs won the championship last year, have opened up a three game lead on the rest of the pack.

Tonight Dodgers take on Calgary Buffaloes at Renfrew Park in the opener of a four-game series. Second contest is billed for tomorrow night, third and fourth will be worked out as a Sunday twin-bill.

It's entirely likely that Morris Hawkey, a longtime pitching standout in these parts, will go to the firing line for Dodgers tonight.

And while Dodgers are hooking up with George Perunia's Buffs, Eskimos will be 'guests' of Calgary Puritys in Buffalo Stadium, Calgary. Esks and Puritys also will play a four game series, starting tonight.

Buffs showed they were pretty strong in the pitching department here last week-end, even though they did drop three games in four starts to Esks.

Youthful Gordon McQuarrie, the righthander from Kamloops, blanked Eddie Morris' gang 5-0. 'Dude' Baldwin also carried on like he knew the score, while

Lady Champ Here Tuesday

Some 285-pounds of muscle and 'hubba-hubba' will climb into the ring at the Stock Pavilion Tuesday, as promoter Al Oeming brings the 'lady rasslers' back to Edmonton.

Mildred Burke, 140 pound grappler from Kansas City, and claimant to the world's title, will meet 145 pound Mae Weston from Columbus Ohio, in the first main event.

Miss Burke, who has been wrestling for about ten years, is something of a female Whipper Billy Watson, inasmuch as she uses a scientific style of grappling.

And just the opposite is Mae Weston, who likes to be the 'bad gal'. Miss Weston is reported to have caused several riots below the border, in her eight years of wrestling.

Al 'Mr. Murder' Mills, the Camrose mauler, is scheduled to meet local boy Stu Hart in the second main event.

Hart has twice come close to defeating Mills, but the 285-pound Camrose grappling artist has yet to be defeated in Edmonton.

The semi-windup will feature Lou 'The Body' Newman and Seattle's Johnny Valentine, in a 45 minute two-out-of-three falls event.

Edmonton's Tex Wilkins will tangle with Chicago's Nick Elitch in the preliminary, which gets underway at 8:30.

HONG KONG, May 26—Reuters — W. W. Yen, 73, former Chinese Nationalist foreign minister and ambassador in Washington and Moscow, died in Shanghai, May 23 according to private reports received here today.

Pontiacs Win In 9th Inning

Price-Andrews' Pontiacs shoved across three runs in the ninth inning to beat Precision 7-4 at Kingsway last night in a Senior Men's Fastball league game.

Singles by Bill Feeney and Em Long, a double by Jack Davies and an error produced the decisive markers.

Long, Davies and second baseman Gordie Thompson paced the Pontiacs to their second successive win, each getting two hits off the offerings of lanky Don Harkness.

PONTIACS LEAD

Pontiacs tallied singletons in the second and third frames to take a 2-0 lead only to have the Machinists surge back with three runs in the fourth.

Centre-fielder Cec Houlihan tripled for Pontiacs in the second and broke for the plate as Thompson grounded to short. The attempt to nab Houlihan at the plate failed.

Davies toured the sacks for Pontiacs in the third on a single to right, an error and a passed ball.

Precision reared back as Roy Chobotuk, Doug Herbert and Mel Ash crossed the plate in the fourth stanza, two hits, an error and three passed balls doing the damage.

PONTIACS GO AHEAD

Pontiacs took the lead again with runs by Long and Davies in the top of the fifth. Bob Myers tied the contest after he doubled, went to third on a passed ball and home on Pete Husar's fly to left field.

Victory gave Nin Gray's Pontiacs sole possession of second place and dropped Precision into third.

Navy Skein Snapped

Fire Department stopped pitcher Reg Hore and also stopped Navy's three-game winning streak at Kingsway last night by thumping the gobs 9-6.

Hore was touched for only five hits in the eight innings he toiled, but a like number of errors by his mates helped Navy go down to their first defeat in the Senior 'B' Fastball league.

Fireman hurler Alex MacGregor hit one of the strangest home runs seen at Kingsway.

The home run highlighted a four-run fifth inning.

Inter-Club Golf Resumes at Weekend

Verdict in the inter-club golf matches for the McMullen cup might well be reached at the weekend, when play resumes at Municipal, Mayfair, Country Club and Highlands.

Sunday will see the second round of the matches played, with Municipal and Country Club clashing, while the No. 1 and No 2 clubs in the standings at this point, defending champion Highlands, and Mayfair respectively, come to grips.

Country Club 'A' — Johnny Letke, 'Chuck' Carnegie, Jack Meldrum et al—plays host to Municipal 'A', including Danny Podersky, Mike Zeweniuk, Tommy Vickers and more.

In the meantime Country Club 'B' journeys to Muni.

This means that top-flight shotmakers of the stripe of Johnny Aitken, Ted West, Bill Hoat, provincial amateur champion Glen Gray will do battle for Mayfair against such Highlands' aces as Henry Martell, onetime Canadian amateur king, Vern Mons, current city champ, Jim Harper and the ilk.

There's quite an array of golfing talent on the 'A' squads from Mayfair and Highlands.

Mayfair 'B' will roll out the welcome mat for Highlands 'B'.

Should Highlands count anything like an overwheiming triumph over Mayfair it will be pretty definite that the McMullen cup will remain in the possession of Highlands for another year. First matches go off at [illegible] a.m.

Snead Fires Hot 66 To Deadlock for Lead

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 26—(AP)—Sam Snead, the money man from White Sulphur Springs, W Va., swept in yesterday with a four-under-par 66 to tie giant Skip Alexander, Knoxville, Tenn., slugger, for first place in the opening round of the $15,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf tournament.

Alexander's great round — just one stroke over the competitive record for the par 70, Colonial Country Club course — stood up until Snead, golf's No. 1 man in money winnings and everything else, posted an identical 33-33 score.

Ed Oliver of Seattle, Wash., finished next with a 68, while E. J. Dutch Harrison, Canadian Open champ from St. Andrews, Ill., and jaunty Jimmie Demaret, the links' loudest dresser, tied for the next spot with 69.

Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., the tournament favorite, had a 71 and a tie for ninth place.

Colonial Club layout stretches 7,035 yards.

Field 12-16 For King's Plate

TORONTO, May 26—(CP)—Official entries today will give the first definite indication of the size of the field in the 91st running of the classic King's Plate Saturday.

A total of 17 ran in two divisions of the Plate trials last Saturday, but those races were at only six furlongs compared with the 1⅛ miles of the Plate itself. Owners of several horses that trailed in the trials were confident of their chances in the Plate itself.

Probabilities were for a field of between 12 and 16.

Wakefield Balks At Oakland Deal

DETROIT, May 26 — New York Yankees still are having trouble trying to dispose of their problem child—Dick Wakefield.

Yankees have shipped Wakefield to Oakland of the Pacific Coast league, but the former Detroit outfielder refuses to report.

"I'd rather be a pauper than play minor league ball," says Wakefield. "I'm going to talk to commissioner A. B. Chandler. I think he might be interested in the raw deal I got."

Earlier this month, Yankees tried to trade Wakefield to the Chicago White Sox. Wakefield refused to report unless he received $5,000 pay cut he took for signing with the Yankees. Chandler stepped in and called off the deal, after which the Yankees suspended Wakefield. They lifted the suspension 19 days later.

Renew 'Feud' At Kingsway

The mountain folk have their Hatfields and McCoys—and Kingsway has Mortons and Walk-Rites.

Tonight's game at the fastball park on Kingsway avenue will be a continuation of the Morton-Walk-Rite feud which has, for the past several years, kept fans, players and officials in a dither.

Ross MacBeth's Mortons presently lead the three team Senior Women's loop with three wins and a loss. Their only loss came at the hands of the Walkies.

Walk-Rite, piloted by fiery Colin Kilburn and Doug Anderson of Flyer hockey fame, hope to win another one tonight and enjoy a share of the lead.

Game time is 8:30 o'clock

English In 5-0 Win

ST. LOUIS, May 26 — (AP) — Manchester, England's barnstorming soccer team, scored an easy 5-0 victory over the St. Louis Simpkins last night before a crowd of 8,500

The St. Louis team, National cup champions, was outclassed throughout. At the half, the visitors led 3-0 and from then on it was merely a matter of what the final margin would be.

The Englishmen have won four and tied one in their 13-game tour of the United States and Canada

DALLAS—(SP)—Two southwest league football teams will play intersectional foes the same day in the Cotton bowl next fall. Texas will meet Oklahoma next October 14, and Southern Methodist will play Oklahoma A. & M. six hours later.

on the TOWN...

Everybody "Wins"

Was I ever lucky at the Lions club carnival last night. (It's at 97 street and Jasper.)

I won a Bingo on my second card, which means I won a nice glass pitcher and four matching drinking glasses with pretty flowers painted on them for 20 cents.

Guess I'm a pretty smart cookie, eh?

So I went right on playing Bingo until I bought 15 more cards without a winner.

Which means that glassware cost $1.70. My Missus says you can buy the outfit for 49 cents at the Five and Ten.

But who would ever get the thrill of yelling "Bingo!" at the Five and Ten?

★ ★ ★ ★

It's funny, but everyone who has seen the Rotary-Shrine circus at the Gardens tells me it's the best show they've seen in years.

And yet attendance has been disappointing to date.

It's really too bad because a big percentage of the gate receipts go in aid of crippled kids, YMCA, YWCA, Girl Guides, Boy Scouts and homes for orphaned youngsters.

There's still a couple of days left to put the Shrine circus over the top financially, and if people want their kiddies to see a real show they better get out to the Gardens.

★ ★ ★ ★

Distinguished Patron

There's one chap around town who never stops telling people how good the Shrine circus is. He's none other than that good sport and all-around good fellow, Lt.-Gov. the Hon. J. C. Bowlen.

His Honor, who hails from down Calgary way, where the natives have their own circus, known as the Stampede, is an authority on such matters.

★ ★ ★ ★

It may be that His Honor is seriously considering learning to ride one of these skyscraper bikes.

I've heard that he was a real artist on the political tightrope in the good old days in the Alberta legislature.

★ ★ ★ ★

If chef Paul Chartrane was a bit off form in carving roasts at the Mac cafeteria yesterday there's a reason. Paul tells me he developed a bad slice first time out for golf at the Country Club course on the holiday.

★ ★ ★ ★

Bumped into my old friend Leo McKinnon the other evening. It was the first time I had seen Leo for about eight months. He's in the oil business now.

Texaco claims his allegiance.

★ ★ ★ ★

Leo used to be quite a photographer when he was public relations man for Grant McConachie's CP Airlines.

Leo took one picture for yours truly that would have stumped the guy who invented the camera.

It was of a banquet for the late Wendell Willkie in the Macdonald hotel during the war years. Mr. Willkie stopped overnight in Edmonton on the way back from Russia.

Leo took a flash shot of 22 guests sitting around a big table. When the pix was developed it showed 22 lovely white napkins alongside 22 plates, but there was nary a human in the scene.

Camera experts from near and far said Leo established a photographic precedent.

J. J. Sophus is gladhanding people around the old home town for the last day or two.

Mr. Sophus is a member of the company engaged in building a cement plant at Red Deer, so that Edmonton civic officials won't be able to say there's a cement shortage every time citizens start hollering for more paved streets.

He's living in Red Deer now and thinks Red Deer is just about the nicest town in Alberta. One reason why he thinks it's such a nice town is because Mrs. Sophus thinks it's a nice town.

A boisterous goodnight to all, and especially to people who holler "Bingo!"

Power Increase On Way To Serve Dawson Creek

The British Columbia Power Commission is spending $200,000 on new installations for Dawson Creek.

This was revealed today by Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, Victoria, member of the commission, who is in Edmonton after a visit to Dawson Creek.

General Foster was special Canadian commissioner for northwest defence projects during the war, with headquarters in Edmonton.

UNITS PURCHASED

The B.C. power commissioner said that former U.S. power installations at Dawson Creek had been purchased and additional diesel power units purchased to the extent of 2,500 horsepower.

General Foster said increased power output was necessary at Dawson Creek because of a growing population and increasing importance at the jumping-off place for the Alaska Highway.

The B.C. commission will tie in all local power units with the BC. hydro set up, which now supplies 130,000 h.p. of electrical energy in the western province, Gen. Foster said.

Gen. Foster is also an advisor to the International Northwest Development committee, a joint body sponsored jointly by the U.S. and Canadian Chambers of Commerce.

The committee had an organization meeting recently in the U.S.A. and plan more joint sessions in the near future.

Gen. Foster is paying a visit to his son, Wing Cmdr. F. F. Foster, of Northwest Air Command, in Edmonton.

There are 16 state parks and recreational areas complete or under construction in Tennessee.

Youth Takes Spotlight In Party's Work

Spotlight is on youth in the Progressive Conservative party today.

This is the message of 22-year-old Donald M. Hueston, Ottawa, executive-secretary of the Young Progressive Conservative Association.

Hueston is in Edmonton for a three-day organizational parley with young PC's of Edmonton and district.

On a coast-to-coast tour of main Canadian centres, he has just completed a tour of B.C. lasting about three weeks.

ENTHUSIASTIC

"Young Progressive Conservatives in Edmonton are considered a most enthusiastic group by party leaders in Ottawa," Hueston said.

He claimed the party has already had a payoff in the recent byelection victories in Hamilton and Toronto.

"The Young Progressive Conservatives were a great factor in those election wins. They carried out difficult door-to-door canvasses in both ridings that paid off at the polls," the leader said.

A three-fold program has been drawn up for young PC's all over Canada. First, there is a section dealing with social activities, secondly an educational and discussion division and thirdly a political action or campaigning division, Mr. Hueston said.

He said Young PC's will combat Communism by emphasizing the necessity of wiping out racial and religious prejudice from one end of Canada to the other.

NIGHT MEETING

A meeting of Young PC's is planned for tonight in the Macdonald Hotel, where officers will be elected by the Edmonton group and general organization plans laid.

Conferences were planned by Mr. Hueston with Eric McCuaig, president of Edmonton Young Progressive Conservatives and M. E. Manning, chairman of the Northern Alberta section of the Progressive Conservative Association.

All Eyes On Alberta Oil

Eyes of the entire continent are fixed on Edmonton and Alberta as the "most cheerful part of our economic picture."

This was the view expressed today by J. G. Hungerford, Toronto, general manager of National Trust Co. Ltd., who is making his first official visit to Edmonton since his appointment last November.

"Your oil development here has been tremendous and there are tremendous potentialities for further development in your north and northwest areas," Mr. Hungerford said.

AGRICULTURE

Alberta is still looked upon mainly as a great source of agricultural wealth.

"You have the greatest cattle-raising province in the Dominion," he said.

Mr. Hungerford said National Trust, which has had an office in Edmonton for 45 years, looks upon this area as of "greatest importance."

Any expansion here, however, would be a matter for the company's board of directors, he said.

Mr. Hungerford is accompanied by Assistant General Manager Ronald W. Pearson, of Vancouver, who was manager of the Edmonton office for seven years. S. J. Crawley is now manager in Edmonton.

Paving Contract Let For Peace River Road

Asphalt paving of section of the highway between Peace River and Grande Prairie is expected to start shortly.

Hon. D. B. MacMillan, minister of public works, announced that contract for the paving job has been awarded to O'Sullivan Paving company. About forty miles will be paved at a cost of $449,261.

Contracts for grading and gravelling from Keoma to Beiseker and for constructing and gravelling the road from Castle River to Crowsnest were also awarded.

The 11-mile Keoma to Beiseker project will be done by the Assiniboia Engineering company of Calgary at a cost of $67,309. Fred Mannix company of Calgary will build and gravel the 19-mile road from Castle River to Crowsnest at a cost of $386,826.

Harry Horton

Violin Is Real Friend To Edmontonian Of 96

By John Holinoki
Bulletin Staff Writer

And that is the way Harry Horton will express his thanks to old friends who today will celebrate his 96th birthday with him at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wood, 9818-92 avenue.

Mr. Horton has been living in the Edmonton district for 50 years.

RETIRED

He hears and sees well, and can still go for a brisk walk in the outdoors with the younger generation.

Although he has a cane, he never uses it.

"People will think I'm getting old," he said.

Since his retirement some 18 years ago, Mr. Horton has spent most of his time reading, playing the violin or just roaming about.

Most of all he enjoys playing hymns and old songs on the violin.

"The violin is just about as old as I am," he said. "I've had it ever since I was 15."

Reading the paper for about two hours each evening or just listening to the radio whiles away much of the spare time.

NEVER SMOKES

Mr. Horton who never smokes or drinks alcohol, claims he owes his long life to his good habits.

Each evening he is in bed by nine and up at the same hour in the morning.

He has watched the city grow.

"When I arrived in Edmonton in 1892 from Ontario, I couldn't sleep nights for the howling of the coyotes and the rampaging of the Indians," he said, "now nothing can bother my sleep."

Highlands, in the sapphire country of North Carolina, is the highest incorporated town in eastern America. The community averages 4,118 feet elevation.

Lethbridge Farm Co-Op. Field Day

L. F. McIntosh, former minister of co-operatives and co-operative development, now minister of municipal affairs in Saskatchewan, will be principal speaker.

Okanagan Business Men Await Gas From Alberta

Residents of the Okanagan Valley favor an all-Canadian route for Alberta gas if it is piped to the west coast.

This was asserted here by Donald M. Hueston, Ottawa, executive-secretary of the Young Progressive Conservative Association, who has just completed a tour of B.C.

WANT GAS

"Businessmen in towns like Kelowna, Vernon and Penticton, are particularly anxious to get Alberta gas and they feel they will have a better chance to get it if gas is piped by an all-Canadian route, rather than through the States," he said.

Leader of the Young Progressive Conservatives said that people in the Okanagan Valley feel certain their area would be served immediately with gas feeder lines if the route selected for a pipe line is through Canada.

The Okanagan people see a big industrial era if cheap Alberta gas is piped in, Mr. Hueston said.

He said that while commons debates on gas pipelines had not gone entirely along party lines, the Progressive Conservatives have officially favored the all-Canadian route for a pipeline from Alberta.

An average of about 41 tons of steel is used in the construction of one mile of standard 2-lane concrete highway.

Milk Is Used By Small Boy To Halt Fire

There was lots of rejoicing over spilled milk in the Nisbet household at 9646-106A avenue Thursday afternoon.

At 5:33 p.m., three trucks roared down to the Nisbet garage in response to an alarm turned in by a neighbor, who firemen said was "very excited."

There was no fire. Firemen arrived to find neighbor's boy had doused it with a bottle of milk.

Know that discount you get if your property tax is paid before a certain date?

The city assessor and tax collector's department think some people go a bit too far in trying to cash in on the discount.

For instance, here is one officials moan: "Sometimes we even get a rubber cheque as payment just before the discount deadline."

Alberta to Join Appeal on Rates

Fight Undertaken To Halt Introduction Of New Boost

Alberta is joining six other Canadian provinces in petitioning the federal cabinet to disallow yesterday's freight rate increase.

Meanwhile, an appeal from Alberta against the 16 per cent freight rate increase allowed on March 1 is pending.

This appeal was filed March 17, and is still to be heard by federal authorities.

NEW APPEAL

The latest appeal, in which Alberta protests freight rate increases of 3.4 per cent allowed yesterday, will ask the federal cabinet to disallow the newest boost.

The petition from Alberta is being filed jointly with those from British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Unless a stay of the increase is granted by federal authorities, the 3.4 per cent boost in freight rates can be effective on 15 days' notice from the railway companies.

J. J. Frawley, K.C., special counsel on freight rates for the Alberta government, is in Ottawa to arrange launching of the appeal in behalf of the province.

Taxpayers Plan Contract Study

No decision on its support or opposition to the Detwiler plan was reached at last night's meeting of the Property Owners' Association.

It was felt that the organization should study the completed draft contract between the city and First New Amsterdam Corporation before committing itself, said Mrs. A. C. Ross, secretary and office manager, today.

Flood Control For Calgary

Alberta attorney general Hon. Lucien Maynard will head a special committee to consider flood controls in the Calgary area.

Sudden melting of heavy snows in the mountain areas west of Calgary could make the city vulnerable to flooding, it is reported from the south.

Mr. Maynard will be chairman of a meeting of civic, provincial and army representatives in Calgary tomorrow morning.

Oil Lotion Banishes Wind Skin-Scare

By Bea Thrifty

Well, here I am with my spring 1950 crop of freckles to plague me. I've tried a million sure-fire lotions for freckle-fading . . . and nothing ever fades but my little bit of tan.

So I'm stuck with them for the summer season.

But I don't intend to be so complacent about my wind-roughened hands. Land o' Goshen . . . but this windy weather has been cruel to these work-weary hands!

I finally started my program of skin-softening in a big way last night.

I bought a large-sized 90c bottle of my favorite skin lotion . . . it's actually more of a creamy oil. Next step was to gently, thoroughly massage oil into the skin.

Then I wrung a small towel out in hot water and pressed it to my oil-bathed skin. This opens the pores, allowing the soothing lotion to do its work.

A few sessions with this effort and I'll be singing with pride about my hands rather than sighing with despair.

I received an excited note from an old school chum who's holidaying in New York. She babbled on for pages about a "fabulous new nylon fur coat selling for $100."

Friend wrote reams about this soft, lustrous luxury-looking fur which is as washable as your sheer hose . . . well, almost as washable.

She said she's going to return to our happy little hamlet with one if she has to walk back from New York. They come in white and four colors.

Sounds interesting doesn't it? . . . And I wonder how many moons will wane before they're selling locally . . .

Here's a party-time dessert that'll please the bridge-table gals more than somewhat.

It's a magic mousse in chocolate tart shells . . . and it's a creamy, delicious, calorie-packed pretty if ever there was one.

Here's the know-how:

Melt one pound dot or dipping chocolate (the chocolate chips will do nicely). Pour a generous tablespoonful into a pleated paper dish or cupcake-baking container. With a knife spread a layer of chocolate over inside of dish. Fill with mousse.

Freeze until firm. Now loosen paper around edge, unpleat and pull off gently.

For the mousse recipe you beat two egg whites until stiff; fold in ¼ cup sugar. Whip one cup heavy cream. Add one teaspoon vanilla. Combine with egg whites . . . and pour into chocolate shells.

When you're freezing the mousse . . . remember to leave it alone. Resist that temptation to stir the goodie.

Try it on your family first . . . if you're dubious about its success.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Spring Is Proper Time For Weaning Babies

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

When the summer season is approaching the mother may have to determine whether she will have the capacity to nurse the baby until the cooler weather, or whether she may be compelled to wean during the hot season.

If there is any danger of this it is better to get the baby established on the new food, before the advent of hot weather. April and May are good months for weaning when weaning is clearly imminent. It shouldn't be done capriciously.

BOTTLE FIRST

Weaning need not be a difficult task if the baby is old enough to drink from a cup. If the cup is a new utensil to him then it is preferable to wean to a bottle and do the cup weaning later. One thing at a time.

Choose one of the daytime feedings, when the baby is wide awake and in an agreeable mood, to present the milk in this new utensil—either bottle or cup. The mid-afternoon feeding is a good one, as it is immaterial whether the baby takes much or little at this particular time.

Use a small-sized glass with a thick rim and offer only an ounce or so of formula. Make a fuss when the baby finishes it and show him how pleased you are at his cooperation. If he fusses and chokes or refuses to drink all of the milk, take it away and give the breast.

At each succeeding "try" offer the bottle or cup first and then finish with the breast, gradually increasing the amount of milk. It may be well to offer cup or bottle at every other feeding except the night one when the baby is tired and unable to cope with any but the familiar breast feeding.

For the time it will not be necessary that the baby take all the milk the mother may consider to be necessary. Two cups a day in all ways, along with the baby's generous diet, will be all that is necessary. If he takes this and gets no nursings his natural appetite will in time make more milk agreeable to him.

The chief point to be stressed is that the mother should not force milk upon the child. Then time will adjust his acceptance of milk with his need for it.

Our leaflet No. 21 "Weaning the Breast Fed Baby," is more explicit in its advice. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Tobe on Fashion —

At Long Last It Looks Like a White Bag Summer Again

It will be a refreshing change, too, for although white bags are never really out of fashion, it's been several years since they've been a big Summer fad. By now few women have any white bags left over in their wardrobes so we can start from scratch.

And what a wealth of choice there is. White washable calf—that has been tremendously improved since it first came out just before the war. White caviar beads—the perfect "dressy" white bag. White linen and shantung—the most popular fabrics of the year. White slipcover bags—always a hardy perennial. White plastic shell boxes and vanities; white plastic leathers that simulate calf.

In Jelly-Making

Weighing fruit and sugar often is simpler than measuring them. Household scales can be adjusted to compensate for the weight of the kettle in which you measure. And of course, if you can use the same kettle for measuring and cooking you'll save dishwashing.

MILK COMES CLOSEST to being the perfect food—but fruit (in the left hand) is important, too.

WHY GROW OLD

Food Facts and Fallacies May Change Your Opinions

By Josephine Lowman

"Food Facts and Fallacies" is one of the most popular exhibits at The Cleveland Health Museum.

I think my readers will find this information most interesting and the museum has given me permission to use it here.

Question: Are celery and fish special brain foods?

Answer: No. There is no such thing as brain food.

Question: Are raw eggs more digestible than cooked eggs?

Question: Can any one food be called the perfect food?

Answer: No. Milk is the most nearly perfect food, supplying especially, proteins, minerals, and vitamins.

Question: Is it proper to drink water with meals?

Answer: Yes. A moderate amount of water aids rather than hinders digestion.

Question: Can a single food build up resistance?

Answer: No. A well-balanced diet providing all necessary minerals and vitamins will increase resistance to infection.

Remember that well-balanced diet includes daily, meat, fish or fowl, a pint of milk for adults (a quart for children), some whole grain, five eggs a week, one green or yellow vegetable, some fresh fruit, and some citrus fruit juice daily. This is the skeleton. More fruits and vegetables and green salads are fine, and you can add on more starches, depending on your weight and energy needs.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Vitamin Defence," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 37 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Some Wives Deserve More Pity Than Do Spinsters

Why do people pity old maids? Why do old maids pity themselves? Why are mothers so anxious for their daughters to marry that they would rather they were unhappily married than not married at all?

Why does a woman feel that getting a husband is drawing the capital prize in the lottery of life, and that if she doesn't get one she is bound to spend her days in drabness and loneliness?

Nobody feels that way about an old bachelor. Nobody bedews him with tears of sympathy, and least of all he is sorry for himself. Nobody considers that life must be cinders, ashes and dust to him because he isn't married.

On the contrary, he is cherished by hostesses, pursued by women and regarded by other men with awe and envy because he has been foxy enough to dodge the burdens of matrimony.

AS WELL OFF AS MAN

Yet in these days of feminine ferent from the lot of the man emancipation, when every avenue of occupation is open to a woman and a woman's earning capacity and her achievements are only limited by her ability, wherein is the lot of the girl bachelor different from the lot of the man bachelor. Why should we esteem single blessedness a curse to women and a graft for men?

No one will deny that an ideal marriage is the nearest approach to a heaven on earth than any mortal can ever know. For a woman to get a husband who is tender and true and loving and who gives her a perfect companionship; to have a beautiful and peaceful home and fine children is for her to be the darling of the gods.

If marriage inevitably brought this to a woman—even if she had a sporting chance of getting it—one could not wonder at her desire for matrimony and at her feeling that to be an old maid was the crowning blow that fate could deal her.

But this is not the case. It is only in fairy tales that Prince Charming comes riding every maiden's way. Most homes are sweat-shops instead of palaces of dreams and oftener children are causes of tears and anxiety than sources of pride and congratulation.

When the average old maid compares her lot with that of her married sister she does not want to swap jobs with her. She looks in the mirror and sees that she would pass for five years younger than sister. She is better dressed.

She works only union hours, instead of toiling 18 hours a day, with no holidays or Sundays off. On Saturday night she has her pay envelope instead of getting nothing for her week's labor.

Personal Visit Is Help Shut-Ins Value Most

A thought, a visit and a kind word are being asked on June 4 for invalids who are confined to their homes.

On that day the Shut-ins' Association of Canada celebrates the 10th anniversary of the founding of the day and is urging the public to drop in on a sick and disabled person and bring a little light into his or her life.

It is the hope of the association that a special day will focus public attention upon the plight of invalids and that recognition and observance of Shut-Ins' Day will lead to a year-round remembrance of those confined to home and hospital.

EASY TO OBSERVE

The observance of Shut-ins' Day is a simple one. Edmontonians are invited to visit shut-in friends and relatives or to send along a small gift or greeting card. The association stresses that a visit is always the most welcome form of remembrance to such people.

Clubs, especially, are invited to provide transportation for those who are able to go to church or for a short drive.

Anyone wishing to devote time and kindness on this day should write Madeline Atkinson, 9638-100A street, who will be pleased to supply names of Edmonton's shut-ins.

Beak Count Is Held In Local Area

Five American and Canadian biologists are busy counting beaks this week around Edmonton.

What they find out about central Alberta's ducks and geese will have an important effect in determining Canadian hunting laws in years to come.

Eventually the whole bird population of the province will be surveyed. The census results will then be tied in with a nation-wide study of migratory birds being made by the Canadian and U.S. wild life services and the fish and game branch of the provincial department of lands and forests.

Edmonton now is the base of central Alberta operations for Allen G. Smith and G. Hortin Jenses of Brigham City, Utah; G. Alan West, Vancouver and Roy Anderson and Joseph Gau of the Alberta Game Branch.

During the survey which will be completed locally in about a week, air and ground crews co-operate in counting migratory birds in a limited area. They also determine the species of each bird

Results are turned into a conference held in Ottawa June 16-17 and hunting regulations laid down accordingly for every affected locality in Canada

Calder Lines Doubled Soon

A 100 per cent increase in telephone service for Calder will be completed within two months

Cables are now being laid to provide 150 additional phones, and Calder residents have been "told they may expect them within the next two months," said Superintendent R. Christie today.

"This is just a very small part of our annual million-dollar expansion, and all the people concerned have been told about it," he said.

"The more publicity you give things like this, the more headaches you give the telephone system," he said. "People misread what they see in the paper, and then come in to ask us why they can't get a phone in some other district."

Meeting Reviews Pipeline Labor

Building and Construction Workers' Union Local 92 (TLC) will meet at 8 p.m., May 31, at the Labor Temple 10006-104 street, to hear progress reports on three important agreements affecting local labor.

On the list are the pipeline agreement, involving rates of pay of all workers on the big pipeline; terms of the recently concluded agreement with the Master Roofers Association; and the current discussions with the general contractors association (Builders' Exchange).

Photographer's Pass Cancelled

BERLIN, May 26.—(Reuters)—The organization committee of the Communist Free German Youth has withdrawn a press pass granted by them to Wilfred Morgan, photographer for the New York Daily News, for taking "false pictures," a spokesman at the American Press Centre said tonight

Harold Williams of the Baltimore Sun, who was with the photographer, said that Morgan's pass had been withdrawn because of statements made by a girl member of the Free German Youth.

Young Priest's Life Spent Aiding Slaves

Today we will tell the true tale of a kind man who lived more than three hundred years ago. He is still famous in Europe as the man who befriended the slaves.

When Vincent de Paul was a young man, he joined the church as a priest. In those days, ships were always in fear of pirates and slave ships. The young priest was going to his first mission, when the French vessel was seized along the Gulf of Lions by three African pirate corsairs. They killed the captain, and the crews and passengers were locked in chains and held prisoners in the hold.

BADLY TREATED

The prisoners were cruelly treated, though many of them were suffering from wounds received in defending the vessel. After landing at the port of Tunis, they were sold as slaves in the market-place. The young priest did all he could to encourage his fellow prisoners. He was sold to a fisherman and then to a Moorish physician, who promised him freedom and a life of ease and honor if he would turn Mohammedan.

But the Christian priest replied that he preferred slavery to giving up his religion. Soon after that his master died, and he was sold again to a native of Venice who had not withstood the same temptation to renounce his religion.

Vincent de Paul did the work of a field laborer and later came to know the wife of his master. When she discovered what a true and beautiful religion her husband had given up she was grieved and persuaded hi mto again become a Christian. This was a dangerous thing to do in a Moorish country, so the three escaped in a small boat to Europe.

Here the priest was freed and began a life of kindness. He visited the sick in a Paris hospital and at one time acted as tutor in the family of Count de Joigni, who had to inspect the convict ships or galleys. The priest knew what it was to be a slave and he could not rest till he had gained permission from King Louis XIII to help the men at the prison ships. At last he became the king's almoner.

FAITHFUL WORKER

He carried out his work faithfully, and once even changed places with one of the convicts, whom he believed had been wrongfully sentenced. Aided by his friend, the count, he won back the prisoners to hope and self-respect. He collected money and with it bought and freed 1,200 slaves.

He started the Order of Sisters of Charity who visited the sick in France, taking care of the aged and helpless. His work impressed the king, who allowed him to establish the first mission in North Africa. Many have said it was mainly due to the work done by Vincent de Paul that the traffic in slaves was finally stopped.

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Story

You should have heard the fine music the squirrel trombone player made come out of his trombone when the cat with the laughing eyes took off his cap and looked at the squirrel and made him laugh. The music was so jolly that Sammy and Susie Littletail and Uncle Wiggily began to dance, and if Jackie Bow-wow hadn't had a sore foot he would have danced, too.

Then Ha-ha once more put on the cap with the slits in the peak, so he could see out, but other people couldn't see his eyes, and the squirrel trombone player stopped laughing into the trombone and the music stopped.

"But now my throat isn't sore any more!" the trombone-playing squirrel exclaimed. "And I can play as well as ever." And to prove it, he blew a long, jolly note on his trombone.

"Laughter is a cure for almost everything," Uncle Wiggily said. "And I think we should all thank Ha-ha the cat for making us all feel so happy."

"Oh, I don't want any thanks," Ha-ha said quickly. "But I would like to know your name," he said to the squirrel, "and where you come from."

"My name is Slippo," said the squirrel, "because I play the slide trombone, which slips up and down as it makes music. And I came from a circus!"

"A circus!" Ha-ha exclaimed excitedly. "What circus? What is the name of the circus?"

"It's the Wonderful Marvelous Magical Circus," Slippo said. "At least that's the name painted on the circus wagons. I've only been with it a short time."

"The Wonderful Marvelous Magical Circus!" Ha-ha cried. "Why, that's my circus! That's the circus my daddy and my mother are with!"

"Yes—my father stands on his front paws, and my mother stands on her front paws on my father's nose," said Ha-ha.

"I know them well. But they're not doing their tricks now," said Slippo.

"Why not?" asked Ha-ha.

"Because the circus is stuck in the mud, that's why! And that's why I came away—to see if I could help to pull the circus out of the mud! All the circus wagons are stuck in the swamp about half a mile from here. The leader of the circus, Womarmag the Hippo, thought he could pull the wagons out of the mud, but instead he got stuck, too!"

"I'm not so sure about that," Uncle Wiggily said, twiddling his right ear, which meant he was thinking extra hard. "Maybe if we got a lot of grapevines for ropes and tied them around the wagons, and all the Woodland animals got ready to pull, and Ha-ha made us laugh, just at that moment, maybe we could pull the circus out of the mud."

"Dou you really think so?" asked Slippo, the squirrel trombone player, anxiously.

"We're off to the resuce of the circus!" Uncle Wiggily shouted. "Slippo, I promise we'll have you out of the mud by tomorrow!"

And he did — I think. Anyhow, I'll tell you what happened, if the bedpost doesn't tickle the spring and make it roll over like a poodle dog trying to catch its tail.

De-Rationing Of Gas Yields Stock Flurry

LONDON. — (Reuters) — Intense excitement in the London Stock Exchange today followed news of gasoline de-rationing in Britain. A large crowd of dealers gathered in the oil share section and prices moved sharply higher.

Garages and kindred issues also advanced. Dunlop Rubber shares were prominent among industrials.

Sentiment in markets generally received a fillip which was tempered only by a disposition to await week-end developments in Germany.

KINGSTON, Jamaica.—(BUP)—A bill paving the way for foreign companies to mine Jamaica's bauxite deposits has been approved by the island's House of Representatives.

Two United States and one Canadian aluminum concerns have applied for licence to exploit the deposits.

MONTREAL. — (CP) — The Canadian economy appears to be on a steadier course than appeared likely at the head of 1949, the monthly business review of the Bank of Montreal said today.

Two factors have been responsible, the review said, adding:

"At home, new capital outlays, instead of falling below last year's figures, appear to be headed for a new peak.

"Externally, the general revival of business activity in the United States has maintained a demand for Canadian exports to that market sufficiently buoyant almost to offset contractions elsewhere."

HALIFAX — (CP) — Premier Angus L. Macdonald announced today sale of a new $20,000,000 issue of provincial debentures.

OTTAWA — (CP)—Production of refined petroleum products in Canada rose 10 per cent last year to 89,243,000 barrels.

OIL

Oil Outlook Good North Of Leduc

By C. V. Myers
Bulletin Oil Editor

North Woodbend No. 1 pepped up oil prospects north of Leduc yesterday when testing the Ellersly sand, basal Cretaceous sand which produces at the Gilbert pool; the well flowed gas at the rate of 261,000 cubic feet and oil rose 4,150 feet on a one hour test.

The well has been lively right through, officials report. A Viking test gave up gas at the rate of quarter of a million cubic feet a day.

Thursday's test was of the interval 4,266 to 4,272 feet. A previous test of interval 4,256 to 4,266 feet gave gas at the rate of four million cubic feet a day and a recovery of five feet of oil cut mud.

CORING PROGRESSES

Coring is now progressing at 4,275 feet and another test is expected.

The fact the well has been lively throughout its course indicates all formations high and is considered a good omen for Devonian prospects below which are the main objective of the well.

The wildcat is being drilled north of the most northerly producer in the Woodbend section of the field, Imperial No. 12. It is three and one half miles north of Anglo, Home, C & E group of 26 oil wells in the Woodbend township.

Somewhat disappointing results were obtained at Campbell a dozen miles north of Edmonton when the No. 5, a northeast offset to No. 4, which flushed 1,200 barrels a day from a second and failed to get similar results.

The No. 4 had found a thick section of the lower sand. The No. 5 found the sand but only the top two feet were good, the rest was tight and silt-filled.

COMMON OCCURRENCE

It was an occurrence common to sand fields in Alberta and does not necessarily imply that other wells may not find conditions similar to No. 4.

The well is now slated to go down to test D-2 Redwater Leasehold officials say. The No. 5 gave a 50 foot rise of oil in the upper sand section which produces the oil in the first three producers.

Gas has been found two miles southeast of the four well sand field at Joseph Lake about 20 miles southeast of Edmonton.

Testing the Viking 3,264 to 3,271 feet the well flowed at 2,000,000 cubic feet daily building up to a maximum of double that amount.

A subsequent test at 3,271 to 3,275 feet gave 1,630,000 cubic feet of gas carrying a spray of light oil.

A widespread rumor yesterday called the wildcat an oil discovery.

GASSY OIL

However, when the pipe was pulled late Thursday, recovery was 120 feet of gassy oil. Gas settling would reduce that volume considerably.

The plan is to core and test again.

The well is slated as a test of Devonian.

Plan To Aid Store Clerks

Thousands of retail clerks in smaller Edmonton stores are going to feel more secure in their jobs under a new social security plan adopted by the Retail Merchants' Association.

The plan which went into effect yesterday gives complete hospitalization coverage to employes in stores employing 25 or less.

Previously only the larger stores were able to offer their employes this coverage.

COMPLETE COVERAGE

"This is the first provincial Retail Merchants' Association to offer this complete coverage," said W. A. Mills, RMA secretary.

"For some time the smaller merchants have wanted to assure their employes of the same feeling of job permanence and benefits as offered by large corporations. This plan is their answer," he said.

The plan covers employes on life assurance, accidental death, hospitalization and sickness and accident weekly indemnity.

Crash Brings Injured Driver Forty Dollar Fine

Harry Cherniak, 11440-83 street, who suffered a lacerated little finger when his car hit a truck and had its roof sheared away, was fined $40 yesterday for dangerous driving.

Evidence given at Cherniak's hearing before Magistrate Main in police court was that the car was almost "totally demolished" when it hit the truck on 112 avenue between 73 and 74 streets, at 1:50 a.m., May [illegible].

Constable Cliff Jones and Barney Heisler had to shake Cherniak to awaken him to take him to hospital in their prowler car, court was informed.

Cherniak testified it had been raining, he was "groggy" from tiredness but not asleep, and that he didn't see the truck.

Windshield of the car struck left rear corner of the three-ton truck, according to the evidence, and the car's top and right rear door were torn away, and back of the truck was "sprung" by the impact.

FOR COMFORT SAKE
STAY AT THE "DRAKE"

Beverly Again On Boom; Building Permit Record

Beverly, the little town on the east side of Edmonton, is again booming, as it did some 40 odd years ago with a flood of coal mines.

This time it's booming with new buildings, better roads and an influx of nice, quiet people.

A report by Julius Summers, secretary-treasurer of the town of Beverly, showed that from the beginning of the year building permits have averaged up to five residential permits per week.

MODERN HOTEL

Latest and most modern building is the Drake hotel, on 40 street and 118 avenue.

Construction work on a new theatre and garage are now well under way and plans for building of a ballroom are being discussed.

A site for a third church has been located and construction work on this project is expected to commence shortly.

Residents of the thriving community claim the progress of their town has been slow in the past due to the lack of running water, sewage disposal system and gas.

The installation of gas is expected in the near future. Present fuel is supplied by the Beverly coal mine.

At present, only utilities are electricity and telephones, which are connected with the city systems.

Purchase of new road equipment has been made and road improvements are underway.

Transportation from the town to Edmonton is supplied by a private busline owned by K. C. Durnford. Bus makes an average of 31 trips to the city daily.

One of the proud possessions of the community is its 11-acre playground which lessens the number of hazardous accidents often caused by children playing on roads.

NEW CHURCH

Beverly has two churches, Roman Catholic and Beverly United, and due to the great number of churchgoers, plans for a third have been made.

The large brick school which recently proved too small to house all students up to grade eight has enrolled well over 300 students.

High school students must attend Edmonton schools.

Beverly has its own firefighting equipment and voluntary firefighters. Head of this department is N. W. West.

Officials of the town include Mayor Albert Hairsine, who at present is suffering an illness and is in hospital, and council members Jime Miles, T. Holiday, K. C. Durnford, Sid Payne, D. Workum and Walter Tkachuk.

Iranian-U.S. Pact Clears Way For Aid

WASHINGTON, May 26—(AP)—Iran and the United States Tuesday signed an agreement which clears the way for American arms aid to that southern neighbor of Soviet Russia.

The Iranian government is the last of the 13 countries sharing directly in the $1,310,000,000 arms program to agree to the terms on which which aid will be furnished.

"For the Rest of Your Life"

LOBBY OF Beverly's new Drake hotel is designed for maximum of comfort for guests. Well lighted, attractive, it immediately creates pleasant impression of restfulness, cheerful atmosphere for the tired arrival. Enjoying comfort of lobby are J. Saindon, 3633 - 118 avenue, and Dave R. Ghormley, 10025 - 110 street.

Faith In Beverly Growth Reflected In New Hotel

Confident that Beverly will continue to flourish, a group of Edmonton businessmen have erected a modern two-storey hotel.

The hotel—"as modern as it could be made"—will be managed by Walter Procter and will be known as Drake Hotel (Beverly) Ltd., 118 avenue 40 street.

MANAGER

Mr. Procter, 22, born and educated in Edmonton, has been managing a hotel in Hardisty, Alta. During the war he worked in a Montreal aircraft factory and later joined the army. He is married with two daughters.

The building's exterior is in treated rough cedar rising 12 feet from the ground and 10 feet of plaster.

It covers an area of 75 feet by 75 feet and a 12 feet by 54 feet addition and has shaled parking place for 150 automobiles.

A wide canopied entrance leads into a spacious, well-lit lobby with walls of veneered birch.

Outstanding feature of the establishment is the 75 feet by 40 feet, highly-colorful beverage room. The walls are white and green, the floor is paved with green and grey tiles and the Formica topped chrome tables and plastic chairs are in a variety of pastel shades.

The ladies' room has red and blue tiles, with walls of rose, cream and blue.

RESTAURANT

An elaborate restaurant, seating 60 people, will serve Chinese and American dishes. It has a separate entrance from the street and fluorescent lighting. The most modern refrigeration equipment is installed behind the 18 foot arborite, horseshoe counter.

Twenty bedrooms—all with different color schemes—contain hot and cold water. Each room receives natural lighting through a large window furnished with a venetian blind.

Fire protective doors open out into a large hall.

The hotel has a hot water baseboard heating system and refrigeration by Frigidaire.

Hubtop Construction Co. Ltd., constructed the building to plans by architects Rule, Wynn and Rule.

Work began in September, 1949.

Fiber for textiles has been produced sucessfully from cottonseed protein. This new synthetic fiber is about three-fourths as strong as wool when dry, feels soft to the hand, and has good dyeing characterisics.

Concert Ends Elk Festival

DAWSON CREEK, B.C.—Sponsored by the Dawson Creek Elks Lodge, the 12th annual music and dancing festival concluded Saturday evening with a concert.

Adjudicators were Mrs. A. G. Newcombe of Mission City, B.C. for music and Mrs. J. R. Love, of Edmonton, dancing. About 165 entrants took part in 69 classes.

This was the first non-competitive festival to be held in the entire district, and created a great deal of interest. No awards were made, those entering being given individual adjudications on their merit.

The committee believed that greater stimulus would be given to the standard of music in the area, and would eliminate the competitive angle.

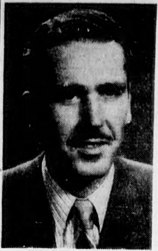
Mrs. Love stated the dancing compared favorably with any she had seen elsewhere, and great praise was given by both adjudicators for the Notre Dame School Rhythm Band.

Chairman of the concert was P. A. Dawes, festival director who introduced members of the executive committee; Mrs. M. E. Barrett, president; Mr. A. Clark, vice-president; Mrs. R. Hughes, secretary; Mrs. A. Mills, treasurer and Mrs. H. Neakes and Mrs. J. Ross, music committee.

Derwent Plans Parade Entry

DERWENT, May 26. — A committee has been appointed by the Board of Trade to plan Derwent's participation at the official opening of the new bridge across the Saskatchewan river at Elk Point.

A large float and one of the first cars operated in this area will take part in the parade. The school will provide some concert items.



WALTER PROCTER
. . . Manages Drake.

The revolver has undergone its first really radical change since its invention. The cylinder has been moved to the rear, with the grip and trigger-guard underneath and in the centre position, while the barrel extends over the top from cylinder to muzzle.

Yellowhead Survey Said OK With Pipeline Firm

OTTAWA, May 26—(CP)—The transport and communications committee of the senate was told yesterday that the Alberta Natural Gas Company is prepared to make an engineering survey of the Yellowhead pass through the Rocky Mountains, proposed as an all-Canadian route for a gas-oil pipe line from Alberta to the Pacific coast.

Senator Gray Turgeon (L—British Columbia) gave this assurance to the committee as it considered pipe-line legislation which previously was blocked in the commons for months by a fillibuster of western members demanding assurance of an all-Canadian route for the line.

Senator Turgeon said the Alberta Natural Gas Company was prepared to run the pipeline along any route indicated by the board of transport commissioners as the one "desired by the people of Canada."

The committee gave quick approval to the bill and to another incorporation, The Prairie Transmission Lines Limited. There was not even the usual clause-by-clause committee study and officials of the companies who attended were not called to testify.

The bills contained only minor changes from the legislation approved by the senate last year but blocked by the filibuster in the commons.

Both companies seek the right to build a gas-oil pipeline from Alberta to the Pacific coast.

Western members demanded the companies should be allowed to build only on an all-Canadian route. Government spokesmen said the board of transport commissioners had the final say in the route but George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said the government held the final responsibility.

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, told the committee he did not believe that the board of transport commissioners finally settled the route.

A law authority of the senate said the law was that in any applications to the board, such as for the building of a pipe line, the board may "impose conditions." The government held a check on export of gas and oil by which a company had to get a permit before it could export.

Ottawa's Civil Aviation Votes Start Declining

OTTAWA, May 26—(BUP)—Parliament turned its spotlight on civil aviation today and found the nation was apparently over the post-war hump in multi-million dollar expenditures on airports and airways.

Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier was prepared to go before the Commons to seek appropriations totalling $24,781,167 for his department's civil aviation division.

The figure was more than $5,000,000 short of the total voted last year by Parliament. The whole of the difference was taken up by cutbacks in new construction and improvements of existing airfields and airways.

There were modest increase in appropriations for general administration of the aeronautics act, airport traffic control, and contributions to international aviation schemes such as the South Pacific air transport council and Canadian-Danish North Atlantic air service agreements.

The increases, however, were offset by cut-backs in other branches of the civil aviation division.

Though not slated to come before the House today, a similar tone was found in defence department expenditures on airfields and ground facilities for the RCAF. These amounted to $23,508,518 under the general heading of "acquisition, construction, purchase, maintenance, repairs, rentals and operating expenses of properties," compared with $72,368,513 voted last year under the same general heading.

Construction and improvements to civil airways and airports was expected to cost the Canadian taxpayer $9,430,340 during the current fiscal year—plus whatever might be asked for by the government later in the current session.
